ROUND-UP
1980

MEMORIES ARE MADE OF

1980

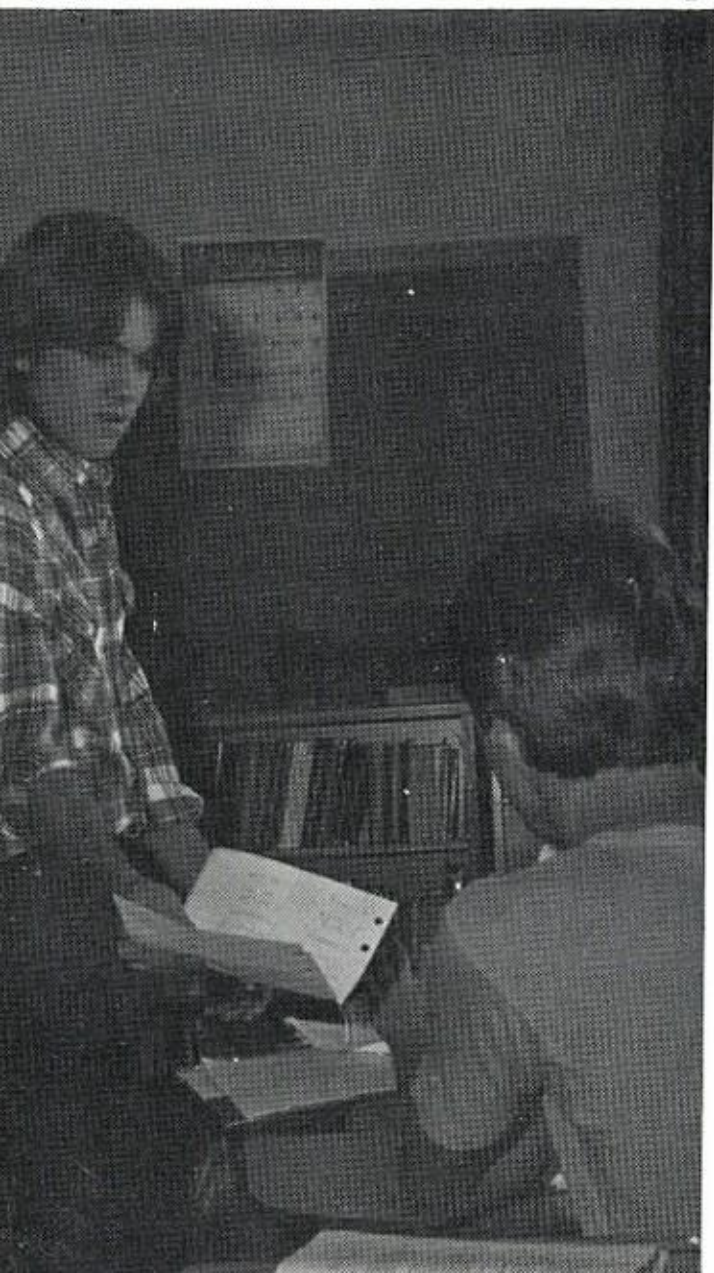

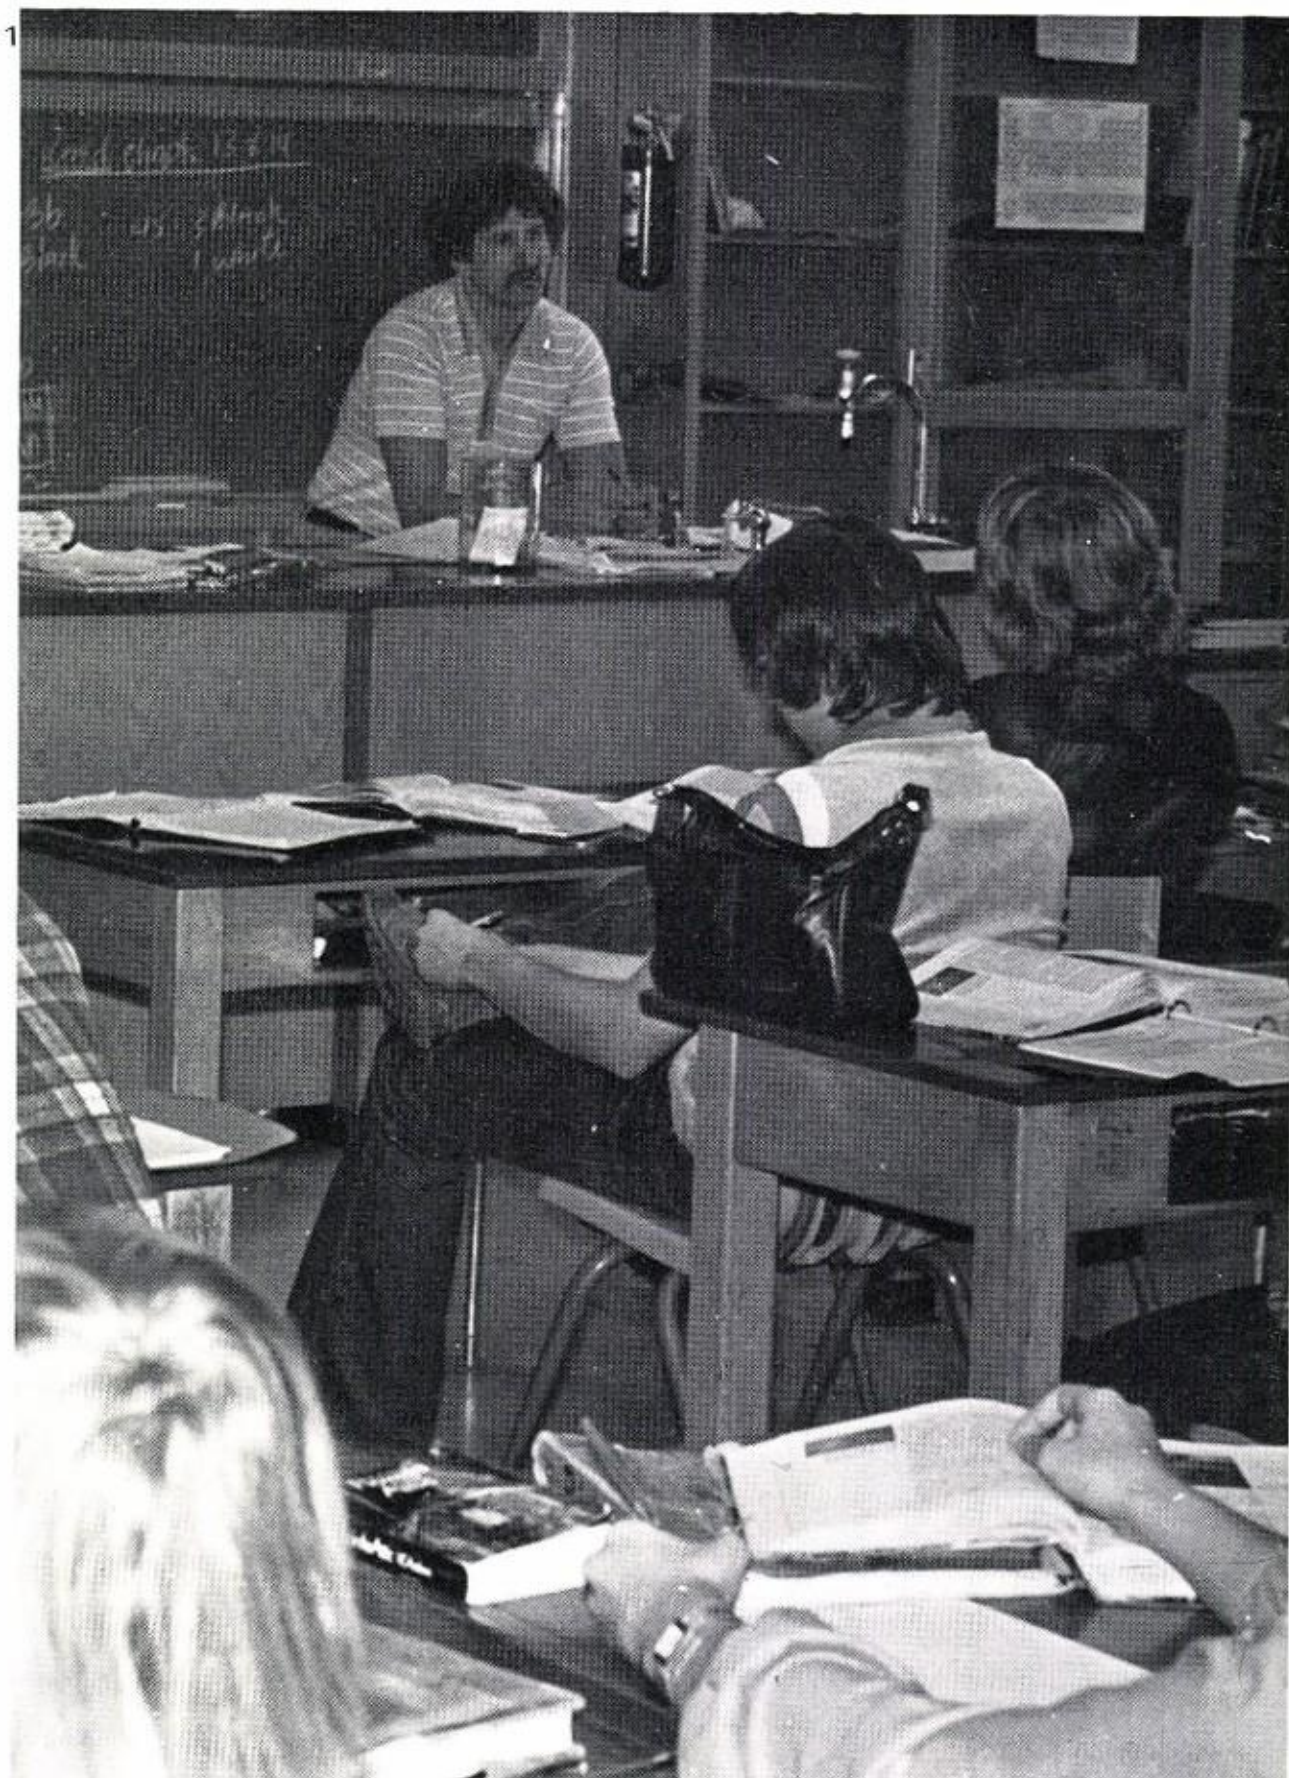

A large group of students, mostly in light-colored shirts, are posed in a grid-like formation on a paved street. In the background, several cars from the late 1970s or early 1980s are parked or driving on the street. Residential houses and trees are visible in the distance. The entire scene is framed by a dark grid pattern, suggesting it's a page from a yearbook.

NORTH PLATTE HIGH SCHOOL
NORTH PLATTE NEBRASKA
ROUND UP
VOLUME 59
1980

As each day came, we went to the same rooms, sat in the same chairs, and saw the same people, but encountered different learning experiences in each class.

To learn was a student's main purpose. We learned more than academics, and were taught some responsibilities, which demonstrates that the road of life will not always be a smooth one.

The dreams we have now about our future will pass, and new ones will take their place. When we look back on our high school days, the memories will seem so distant.

(1,2,3) In their first year of high school, sophomores are required to take certain classes, two of them being Biology and English. There are some optional classes offered and one of them is an art course. (4,5,6) Being in the middle, as these juniors are, gives them a little more freedom, but they still have to take some basic courses such as History and English. One of the options open to juniors is a child development class where you study the behavior of children.

The things we do today are memories we carry for the rest of our lives. There will be remembered times, some happy, some sad, but life goes on, and each day is an experience for everyone. Some go from North Platte and some will stay. From year to year our experiences will change. That's why memories are so special.

As students, we learn about life, other people, but mostly ourselves. We're the spirit of today's tomorrow. Out of a crowd emerges one. We each have the chance to be that one.

(1,2,3) Seniors will retain memories of classes they took throughout their high school years as different steps they each had to take, such as English, Advanced Comp., and Civics, in deciding future goals. (4,5,6) As we mature, we are required to make decisions for ourselves. Woods, Technical Drawing and Electricity are some of those choices. The decisions we made in high school help us in making future decisions.

Students step into spotlight of styles

Just as the last 20 years have seen many things change including people, places, music and fashions, the fashions seen on these pages will surely change by the year 2000. Fads have gone from bobby socks, long skirts and pulled back hair, through the mini skirt and the maxi skirt. Hair styles have changed too, with the long straggly hair giving way to more moderately styled, blow dried, and permed styles of today.

This year straight legs, straight and pleated skirts, spikes, jeans, the layered look, and corduroy are in the spotlight. Most of all we see the comfortable casual clothes, such as T-shirts and flannel shirts. Instead of seeing the tough leather jackets of the late 50's and early 60's we see the soft gentle look of fur and the outdoor, crisp look of the ski coat.

These fads may not last long, but they are "in" right now.

It's hard telling what the fads will be 20 years from now. We might be wearing space suits and oxygen masks!

Typical of the daily attire of probably half the student body would be T-shirts, ranging from those advertising brand name products to current slogans as well as those that promote school spirit. A few examples are: (1) Nora Sandoval, Michelle Douglas, Karen Karre, Jed Snell, Lori Vencill, John Schultz, Cindy Post, Bill Claussen, and Becky Carroll. (2) Ready for the cold are Lisa Becker and Tracy Fisher. (3) Stepping out to fashion are: Camy Eggers, Susie Thompson, Carlene McGee, Kelly Cosper, and Wendy Raetz. (4) Rob Sparks and Troy Workman show the sharp contrast between the casual bib overalls and the more dressy sport coat. Below are shoes commonly seen in North Platte.

Cheerleaders co-ordinate successful Fall Homecoming celebration

Just about everyone enjoyed this year's "Main Event", the theme for Homecoming. The cheerleaders, under the direction of Mrs. Patti Severson, planned the events weeks ahead of time.

Monday was gym clothes day with the Powder Puff Football game that night. The seniors overcame both the juniors and sophomores.

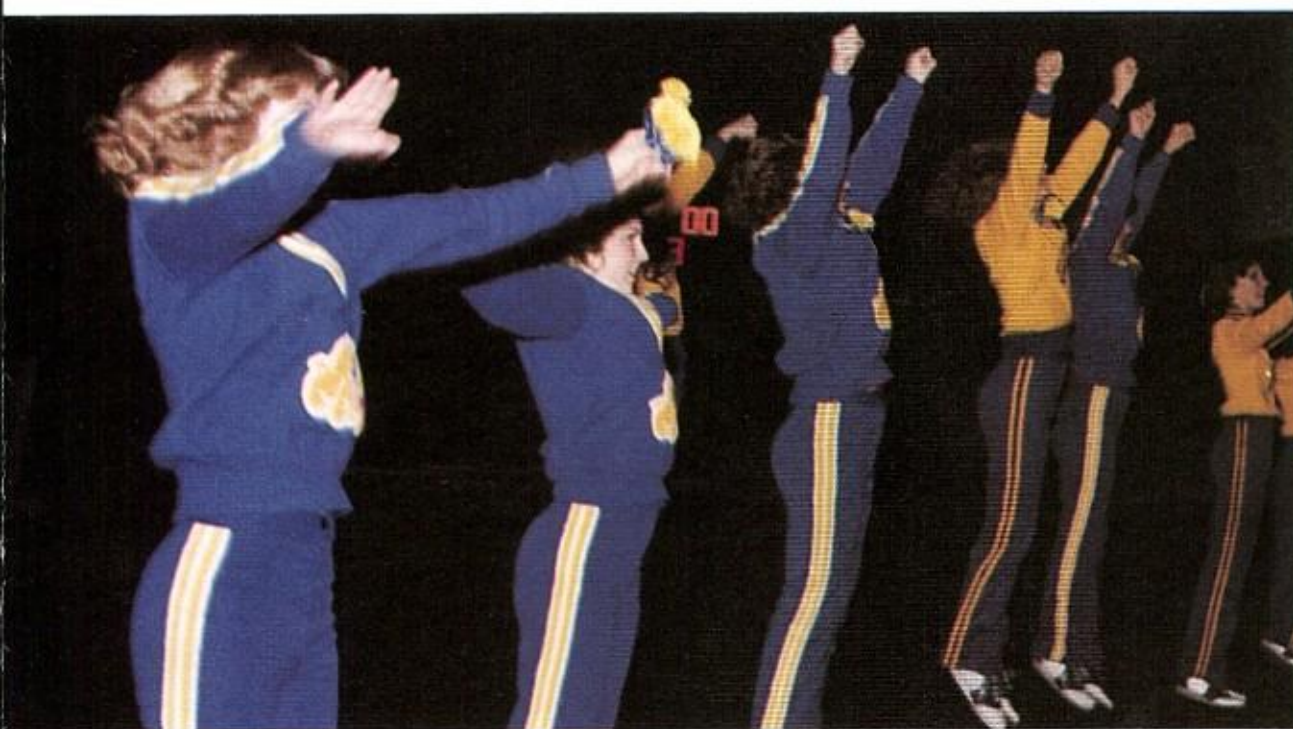

Tuesday was sports day with a poster painting party that evening in the lounge. Wednesday was 50's day.

Painting store windows helped include the community, and judges selected winners with the cheerleaders placing first, Key Club second, and Annual Staff third.

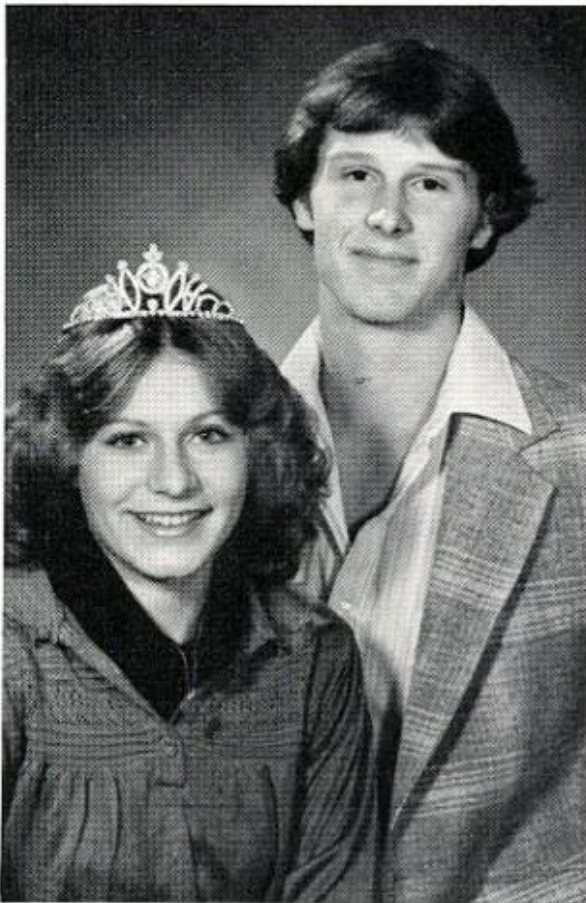

Thursday was mis-match day as well as the street rally. Excitement was added when each class made a hand-pulled float. The bonfire followed where the juniors added an outhouse to their pile.

Friday was highlighted by a North Platte win over Kearney, 35-7, with royalty crowned at halftime.

Wrapping up the week was a dance with music provided by "Sound Unlimited."

Exchange student finds new challenges

"Things in the states are much different than they are in Värnamo, Sweden," says the 1979—1980 Rotary Exchange student, Martin Green.

In preparation to come to this country, Martin looked and found nothing about Nebraska except that the capital is Lincoln and that North Platte is the county seat.

Comparing Sweden and North Platte, Martin said that he especially misses the trees and the "good school food" in Sweden. One thing he definitely likes about the U.S. is "no math and I love it."

One major difference in school is that Sweden has more career developing classes in high school and we don't. "High School is much easier here than in Sweden," Martin added.

Still another difference between Sweden and North Platte is that high school students in Sweden don't have jobs like we do here.

Martin feels that people are much different here than in Sweden: The drug problem is worse here, there is a drinking age here and not in Sweden, and he said he doesn't understand why people here have big cars with only one person in them.

Martin said he likes it here enough to come back in the future to see the people he met here.

(1) "Pick a card!" says Martin Green (on the right) as he portrayed Father Drobney in the fall play, "Don't Drink the Water." Leroy Jones, as the ambassador's son, Axel, is the unwilling participant for the would-be magician. (2) Martin Green, the Swedish Rotary Exchange student for this year.

Timing of play gives plot ironic twist.

Don't Drink the Water, was directed by Mr. Skip Altig, assisted by Shari Mires.

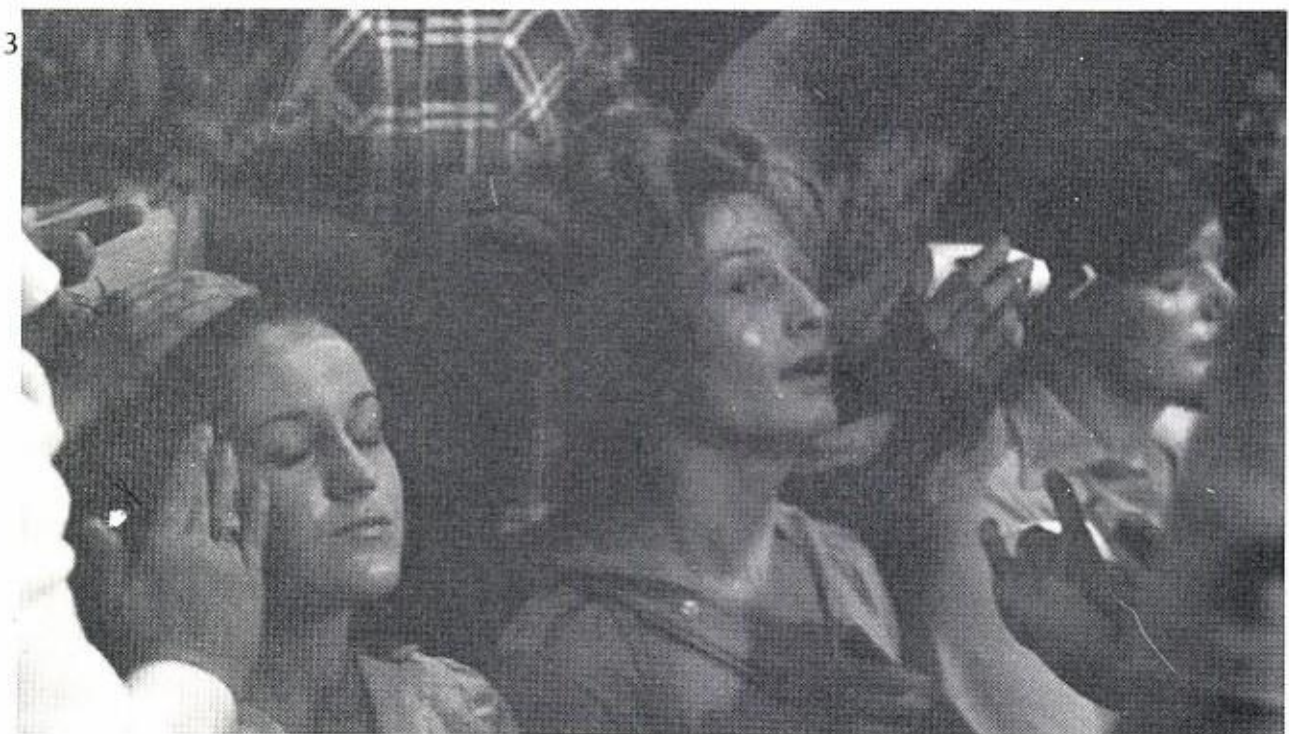

The play tells about an American family, Walter Hollander (Bill Allen), Marian (Sherri Hoelscher) and daughter Susan (Deb Hinman), who were vacationing in East Germany and sought refuge in, and then were held captive in, the American Embassy.

It seems ironic that the play was presented as Americans began their seige as hostages in the American Embassy in Iran.

In the play, Susan falls in love with the ambassador's son, Axel (Leroy Jones). Father Drobney (Martin Green) was narrator, in addition to his role of a priest forced to seek asylum in the Embassy.

Other characters in the play included: Krojack (Greg Gullion) the policeman; the Chef (Cherri Buzzell); Ms. Kilroy (Chris Wallace); Ambassador Magee (Rich Saighman); Miss Burns (Joni James); the Sultan of Bashir (Scott Synovec); and wife (Caroline Fletcher); Kasnar (Jerry Layher); and Countess Bordini (Kathy McCall).

(1) "I warn you . . . If you mess up the order of my spice rack, I don't know what I'll do!" Chef says to Marian. (2) "Admit it! You are a filthy American spy!" Krojack yells at Walter. (3) Every actor must look the character and this is accomplished by the use of makeup as Deb Hinman, Leroy Jones, and Rich Saighman prepare for a performance.

Evil villian's dastardly deed backfires

"Egad the Woman in White" is an old fashion mellowdramer about an evil man who tries everything possible to steal his wife's fortune. He steps low enough to pull off a funeral that supposidly is his wife's, but is another woman who is identical.

He locks his wife in an insane asylum thinking nobody would find out. Her friends discover she is alive in the asylum and they try to help get her fortune away from the evil man. The villian's plot backfires and he is killed leaving the hero and heroine to live happily ever after, as they should in a mellodramer.

The cast included: Sir Percival Glyde (Bill Allen); Dora (Tammy Garst); Lawyer Gilmore (Greg Gullion); Countess Fosco (Deb Hinman); Mrs. Catheric (Lori Mecomber); Frederick Fairlee (Tom Richardson); Marian (Christi Shepard); Laura and Ann Catheric (Sherri Buzzell); Walter Hartright (Doug Long); Miss Peach (Heidi Nelson).

(1) An art lesson gives the hero (Doug Long) and heroine (Sherri Buzzell) an opportunity to be together. (2) Woman in White (Sherri Buzzell) sits lifelessly at Sir Percival's home. (3) Mrs. Catheric (Lori Mecomber) and Countess Fosco (Deb Hinman) encounter Sir Percival (Bill Allen).

One-Acts contained variety of emotions

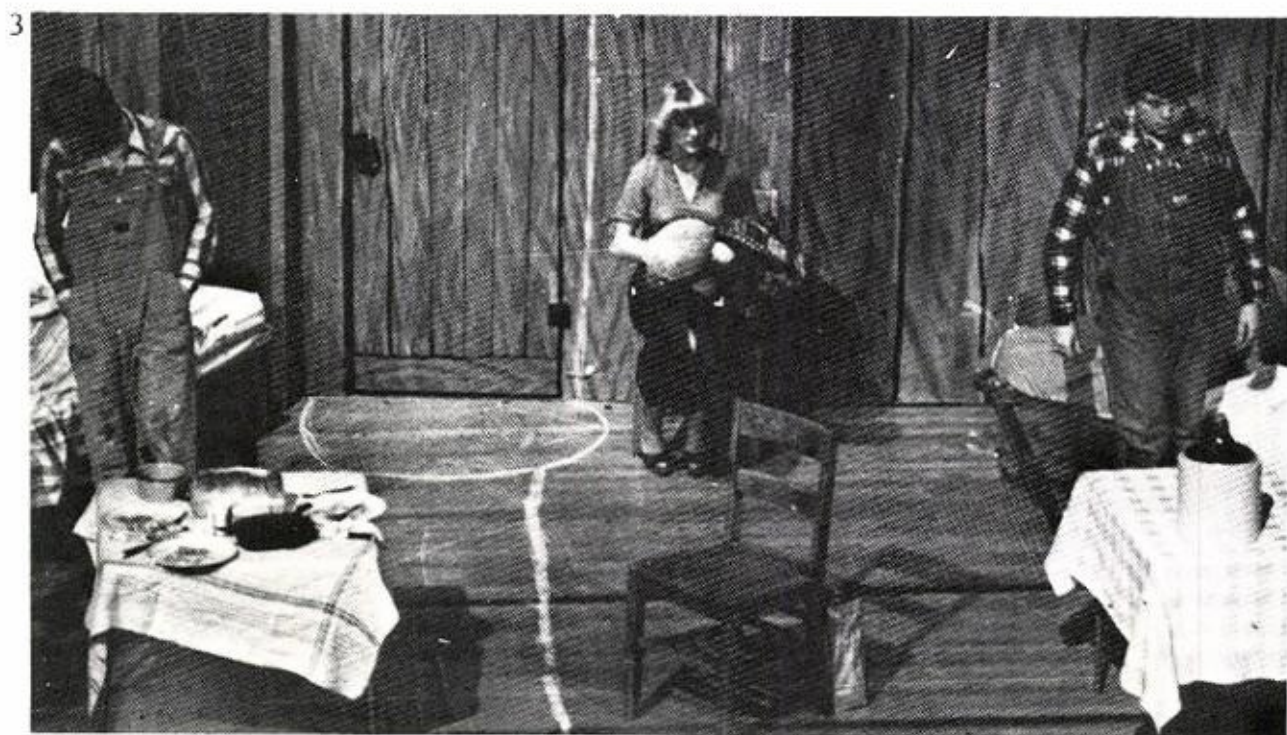

This year's student directed One-Acts contained a variety of emotion.

In "Wrong Number" directed by Sue Smith, Mrs. Stevenson (Camy Eggers) is an invalid alone in her apartment. She is mistakenly cut in on a phone call and overhears two men planning a murder—hers! She tries to get help from the operators (Heidi Nelson, Cherri Buzzell, Joni James) and the police (Greg Greder), but they are unable to help.

"The Storm" directed by Ann Girard, is set in the cabin of Jeff and Mary Mulky (Greg Gullion and Chris Wallace). A hunter (Jeff Craig) comes into the cabin to escape the storm as well as to seek revenge because he thinks his wife (Missy Mason) and daughter (Gretchen Miesback) have been killed many years ago by Mulky. However, the wife and daughter arrive, and the once separated family reunites, and leaves.

"Quiet Please" directed by Tom Richardson, is an example of a feud between two brothers Jed (Bill Allen) and Jeff Harris (Leroy Jones).

The local Reverend (Jerry Laher) and local church members (Shari Mires, Joni James, Heidi Nelson) try to work things out. It takes a social worker (Shelly Scritsmeir) to accomplish that goal.

Spirit Week features numerous outfits

Second semester Spirit Week featured numerous outfits with a different theme for each day. The week was entertaining for participants and observers alike.

The theme for Monday was Lollipop Day with students encouraged to dress like little kids. Tuesday was the Year 2000 day. The next day was the Crazy Hat and Sock Day and Thursday was Fifties Day. The traditional Blue and Gold Day was Friday coinciding with the boy's basketball game at which North Platte staged a late game rally which wasn't enough as they lost to Kearney 69-65.

open air ceremonies into hot auditorium

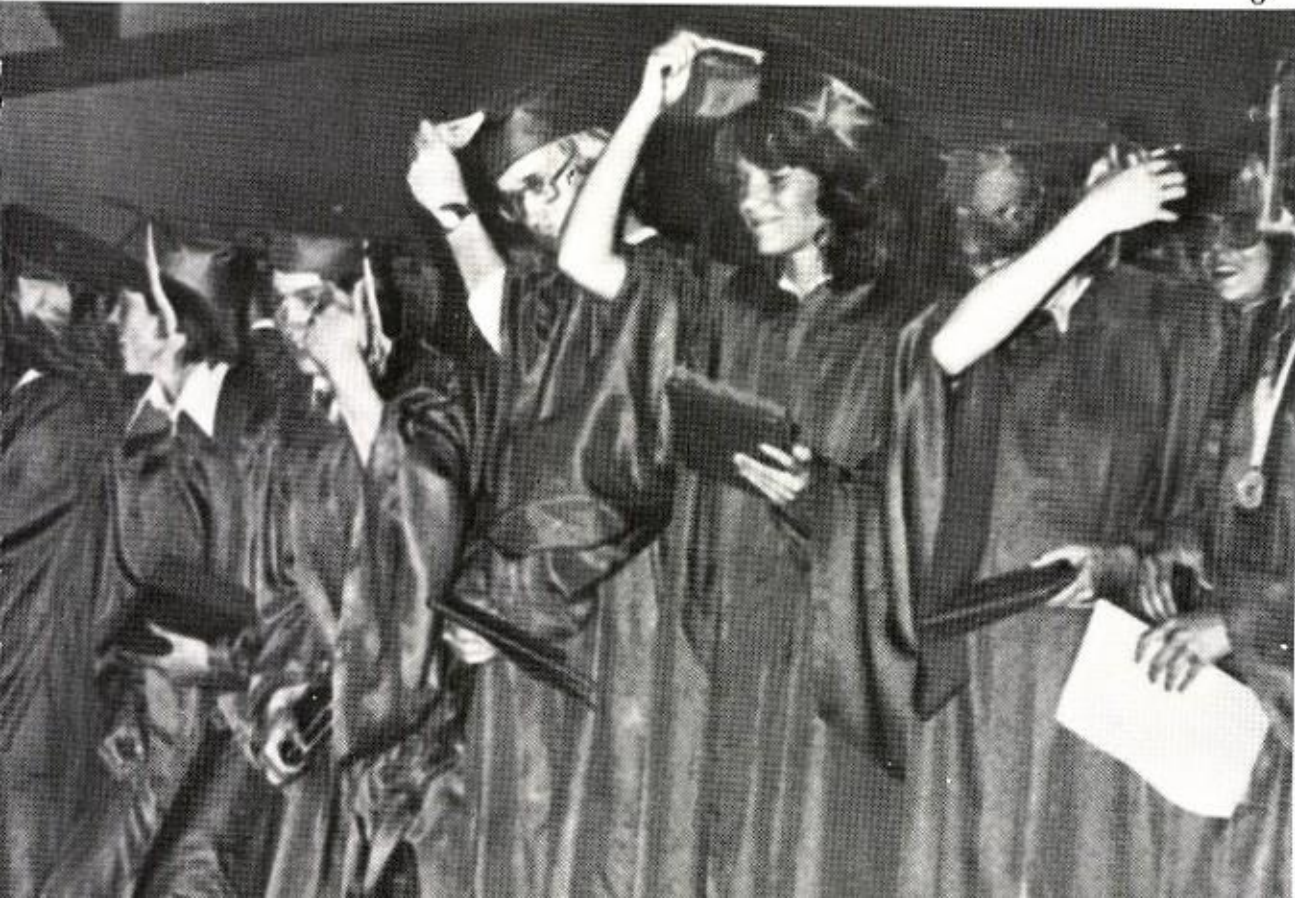

For the first time since 1969, graduation ceremonies were in the auditorium because of the windy-rainy weather. This limited the number of people attending the ceremonies to those holding the six tickets given to each graduate, at their last practice.

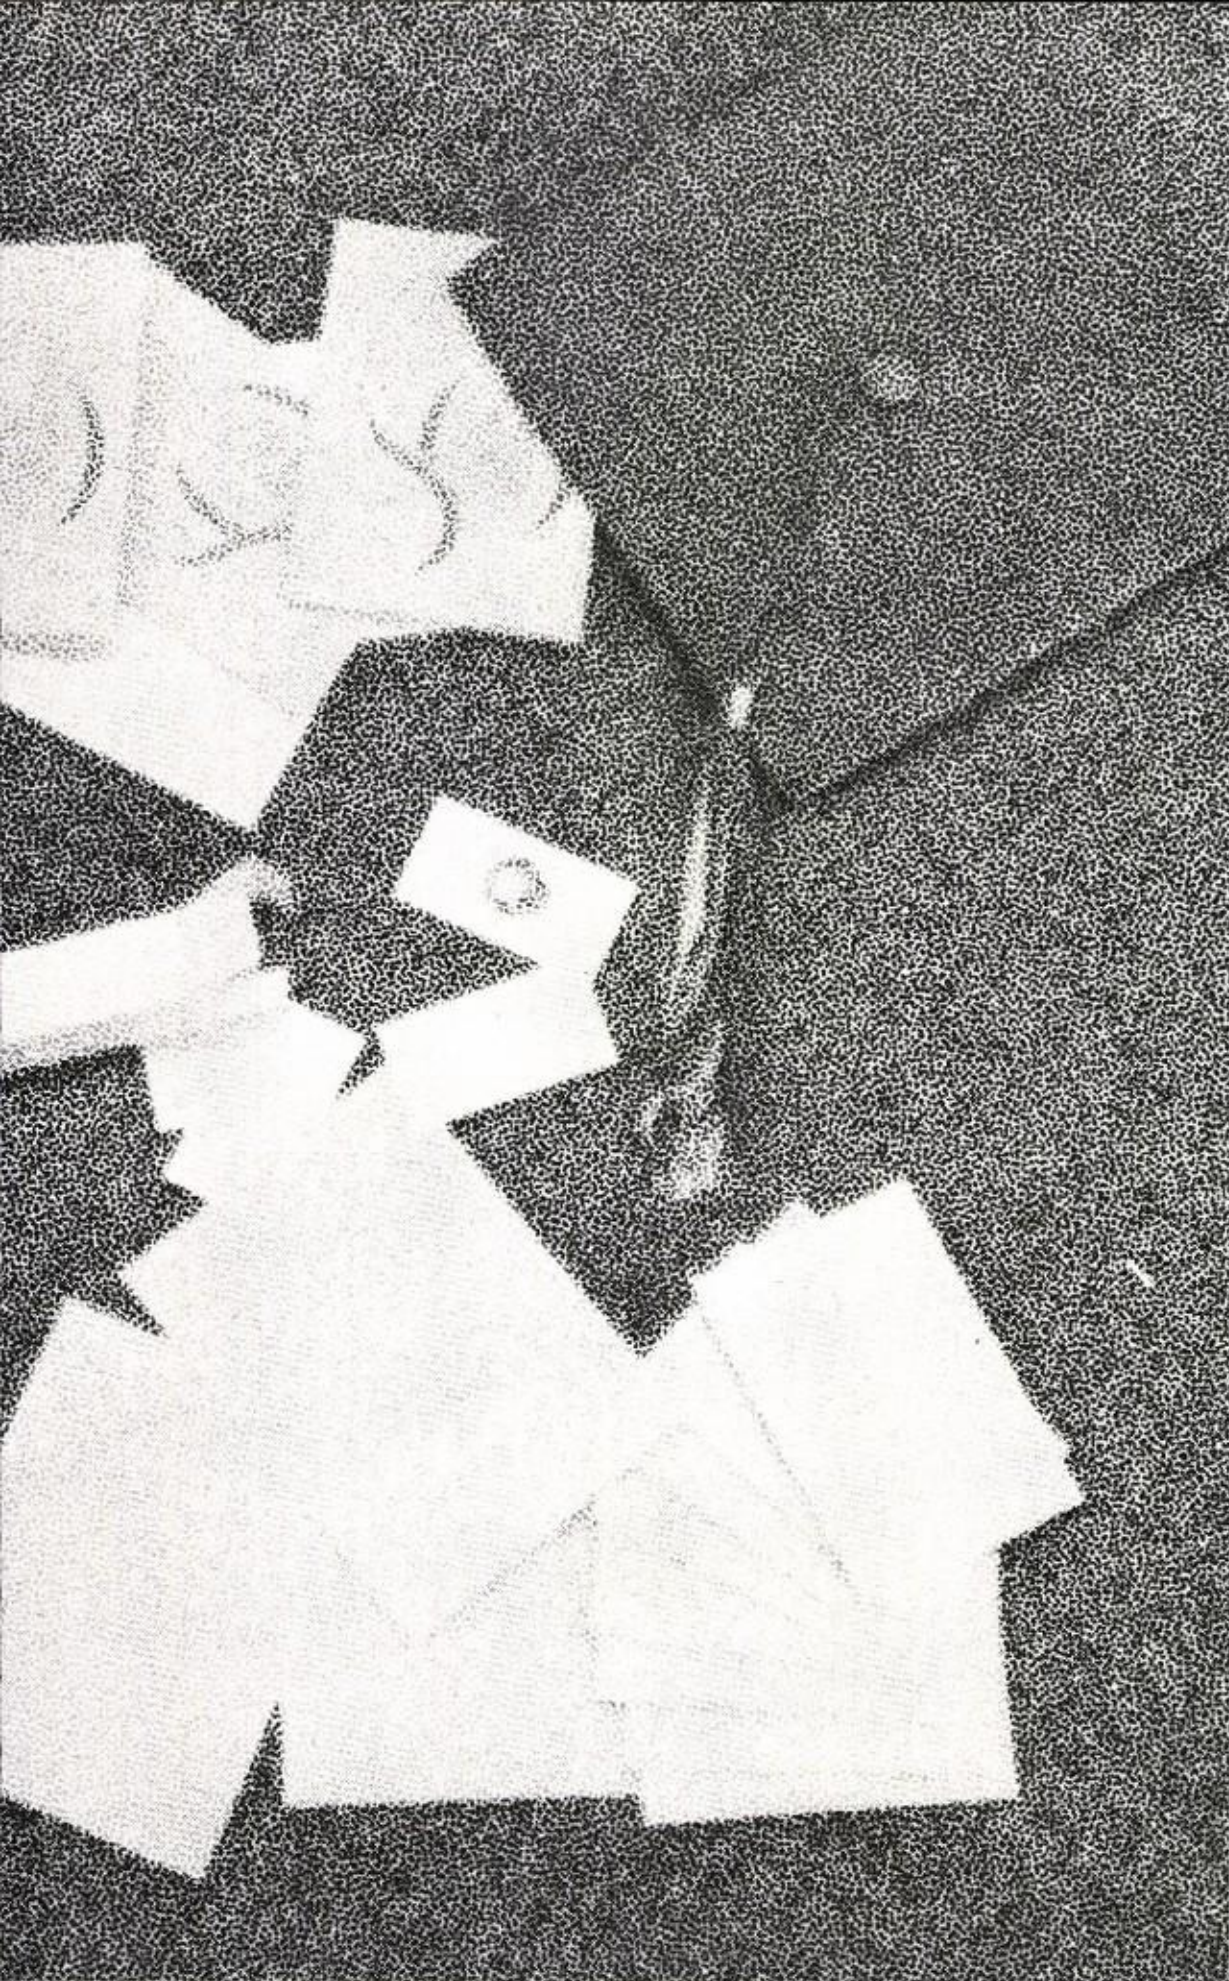

The class, consisting of 337 (328 attending), were escorted by Kristy Carpenter and Joi Patterson to the processional "Pomp and Circumstance" played by the Senior High Band.

Brad Morrison, Doug Long, and Carri Hall spoke using the class motto as their subject: "Do not follow where the path leads. Rather go where there is no path and leave a trail."

Memories of high school will linger on

As seniors we've obtained more knowledge, encountered more events, and have stored away more memories of our high school days.

Happy memories of sitting on the bench at lunch, reminiscing with our friends. Proud memories of finally being the oldest class in the school. Sad memories of possibly losing track of our friends after graduation.

Whether our memories be good or bad, funny or sad, they are once-in-a-lifetime memories which shall stay with us long after graduation.

Instilling pride goal of football coach

Although the Bulldogs got a slow start in the season, they closed out with a 3-6 record with wins against Kearney, 35-7; Alliance, 23-15; and Scottsbluff, 24-7.

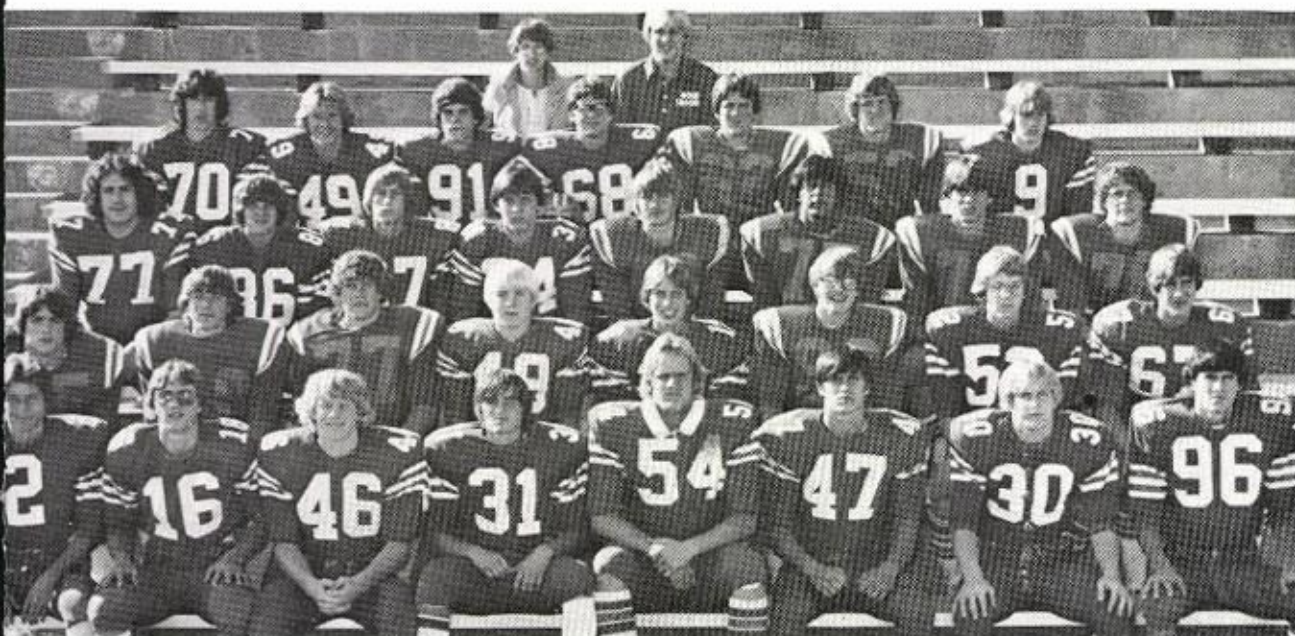

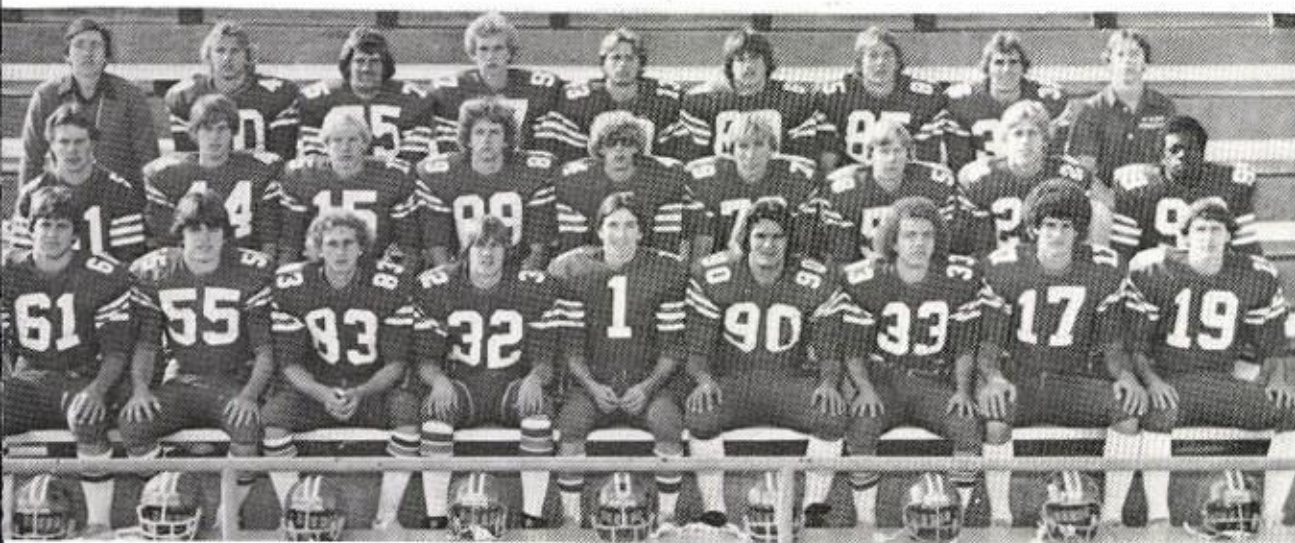

After finishing their regular season, the Bulldogs advanced to the Big Ten Championship playoffs against Hastings.

Readjusting was also part of the season as Mr. Robert Zohner took over the position as head coach, and changed to a 5-2 formation.

"The player has to feel confident. Pride is also an important factor. Although we experienced a disappointing loss to Hastings, the coaching staff was overall satisfied with the effort put forth by the team as a whole," Coach Zohner said.

The assistant coaches were Mr. Curt Jones, Mr. Frederick James, Mr. Robert McFarland, Mr. Joe Shandera, and Mr. Larry Timmermans.

Volleyball team wins state championship

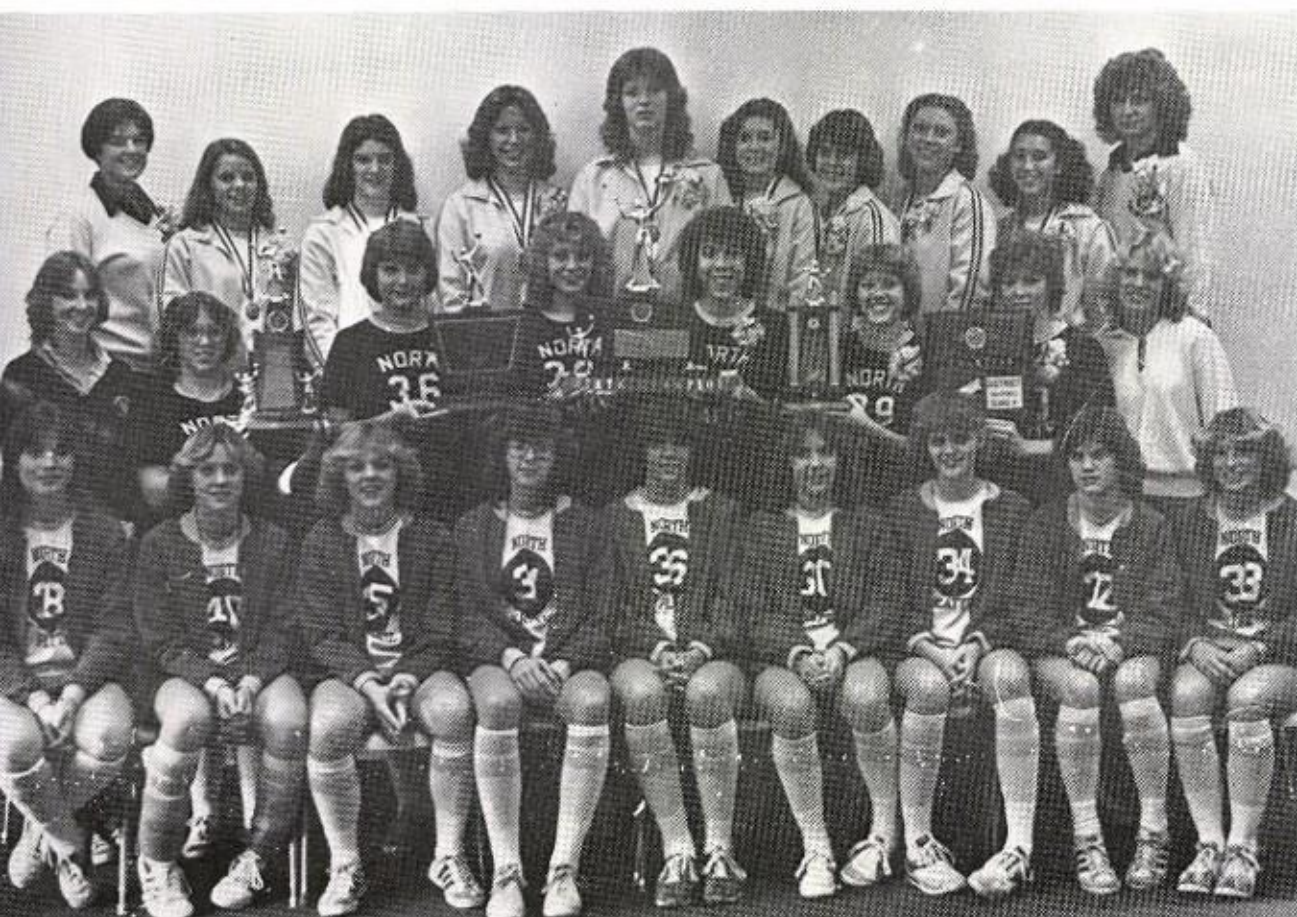

A state title was theirs as the volleyball team captured the Class A championship.

The Bulldogs showed their power defeating Omaha Marian in the first round of the tournament 15-2, 15-12. After eliminating Millard 15-4, 14-16, and 15-10 in the semi-finals, they went on to the finals against Lincoln Northeast where they outplayed the Rockets in straight sets 16-14, and 15-5.

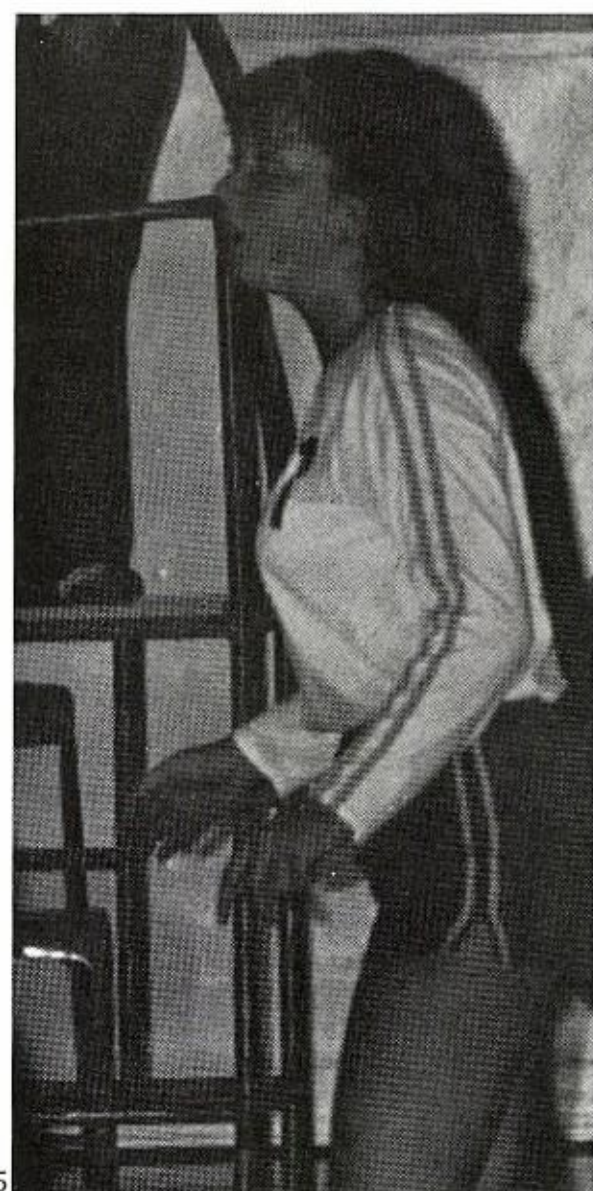

They also won the Big Ten Conference, the Southeast Conference, and the District tournament title.

"As a coach, it is extremely rewarding to be part of so much happiness," said Coach Linda Carlson. "Every member of the volleyball team worked hard and displayed a great deal of dedication and loyalty. The girls certainly deserved all the 'glory' they received."

Tennis competition described as tough

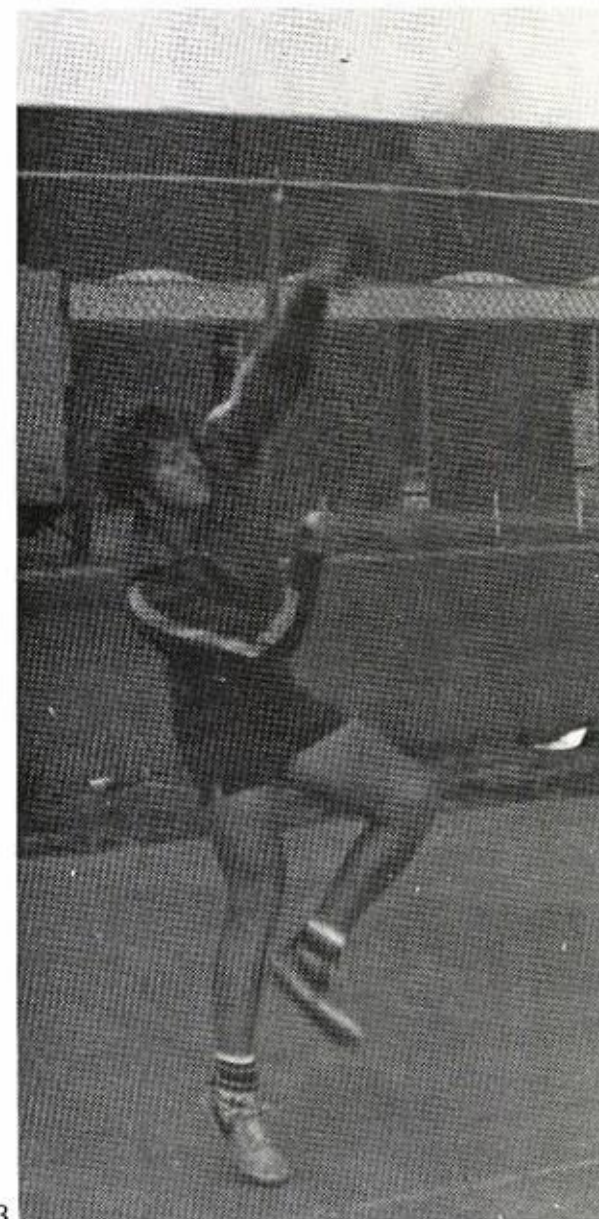

"We had what I would call a rebuilding year," said boys' tennis Coach Robert Merideth. The top players consisted of four juniors and two seniors.

The toughness of this year's competition put a lot of pressure on the number one and two players Jed Snell and Jan Frogman.

These players also teamed up as the top doubles team having the only win at state.

Swim team records good season this year

Breaking seven school records, the girls swim team finished their season with a 4-4 record and two of those losses were by only one point.

Coach Butch Lehmkuhler described the season saying, "Winning two meets would have been good, but winning four was great."

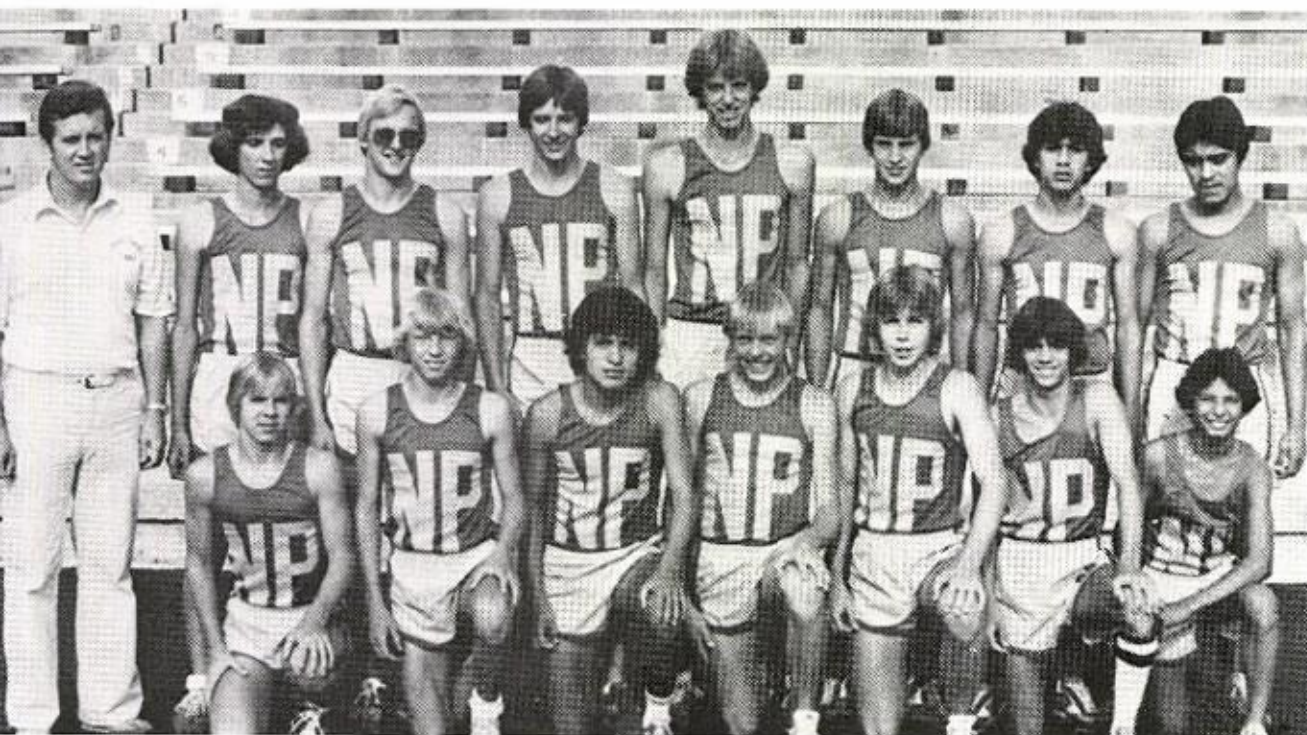

The girls took fourth place at the Big Ten meet and fourth at Trans-Nebraska, compared to last year's seventh place.

Although hampered by sickness and injuries at the beginning of the season, the North Platte harriers won both the West Big Ten and Trans-Nebraska conference titles as well as several smaller scheduled duals and invitionals.

Winning Districts, all North Platte runners finished in the top 13 in Class A qualifying the team for state.

At state, Omaha Burke ran away with the meet and North Platte with 99 points finished fourth. Seniors Tim Madagame, Jim Olson, Tracy Sloggett, and Charles Smith led the team with help from the junior varsity cross country runners Nate Schwartz, Chan Timmons, and Dan Casillas.

Coach Doug Martins was pleased with the team saying, "It's the first we've won both conferences in one season. We had a good bunch of kids out for the team."

Girl's CC season described as 'success'

"This first season for Girl's Cross Country was a great success," is how Coach Rick May described the year. The team won 4 of their 5 scheduled meets.

Sophomore Bonnie Niebauer consistently led the team to victories and was named outstanding runner by the coach.

"Next year's runners will have the first district and State Girl's Cross Country meets to look forward to," said Coach May.

Young golfers look to promising future

"We had a young but enthusiastic group of girls come out for golf in 1979," said Coach Sally Roberts.

Jodi Helms, a three-year winner, was named outstanding golfer of the year. She won the Alliance Invitational and took third place at Trans-Nebraska.

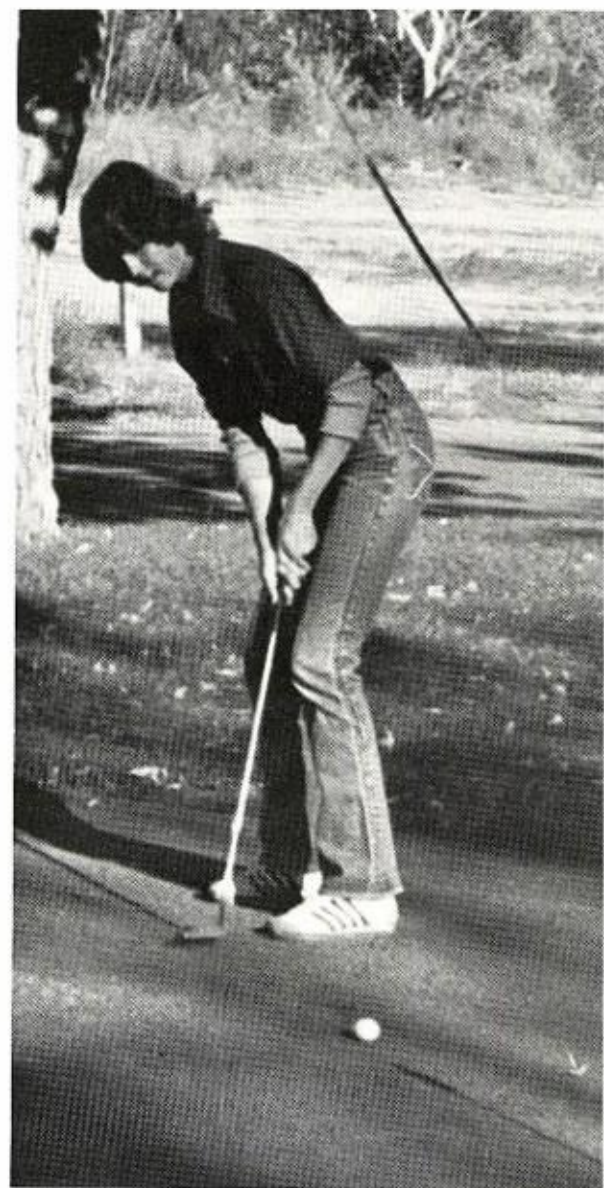

"Since five of the nine golfers were freshmen, the team has a very promising future, said Coach Roberts.

Eleven gymnasts letter, six go to state

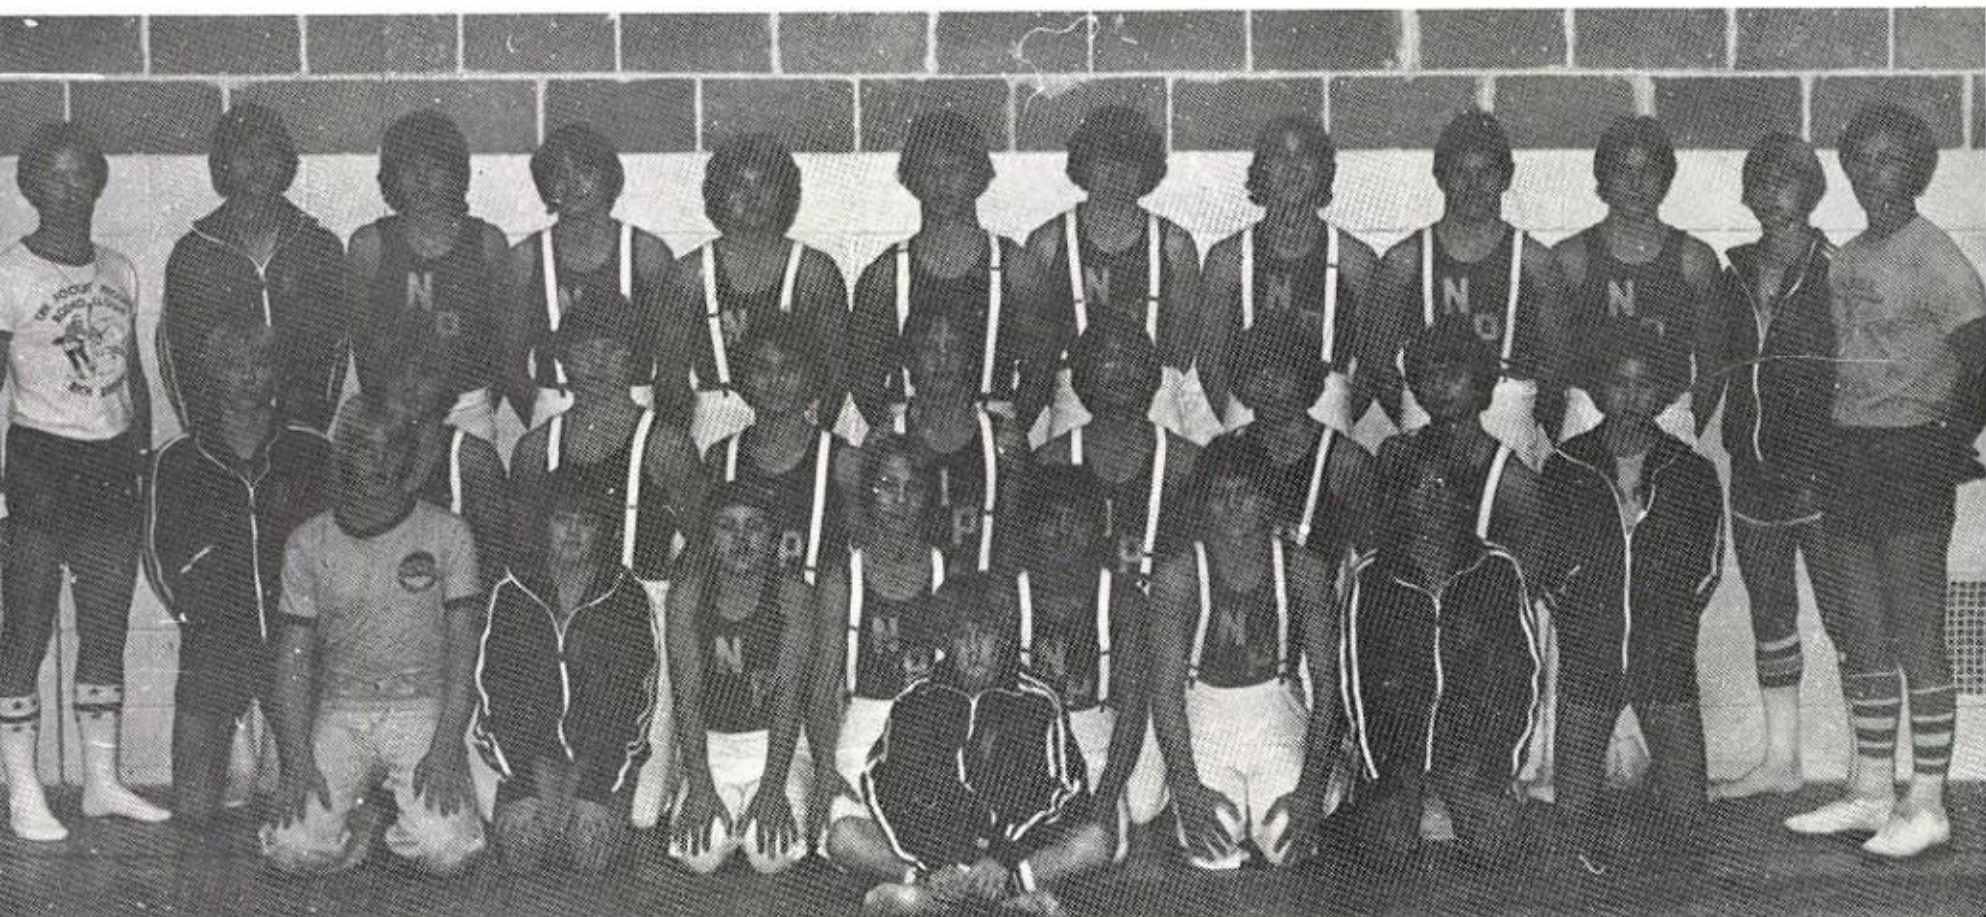

Despite injuries, which affected total team scoring, the Boys' Gymnastics team had a good season as they won 4 of their 6 scheduled duals. They also came in third in the Trans-Nebraska and had six gymnasts qualify for state. They were Gregg Todd, Mike Miller, Perry Hall, Kif Ward, Scott Rumery, and Dale Baldwin. The gymnasts in state competition missed qualifying for final competition by one place in the preliminaries.

Senior Mike Miller, who was named outstanding athlete on the rings and parallel bars, was runner-up in districts and came in seventh at state on the parallel bars.

Top scorer for the season was Markos Nila with a total of 196.14 on the horizontal bars. Eleven gymnasts also lettered this year.

Coach Gary Cooper said, "We had a good season, and a lot of new talent." The coach added that the team was also losing several good seniors this year but, "The sophomores learned well and scored good in the meets, and will show how well they can do with practice."

First winning season achieved by girls

Starting their season off with a victory against the Fremont Tigers, the Lady Bulldogs had the best season since Girl's Basketball began at NPHS.

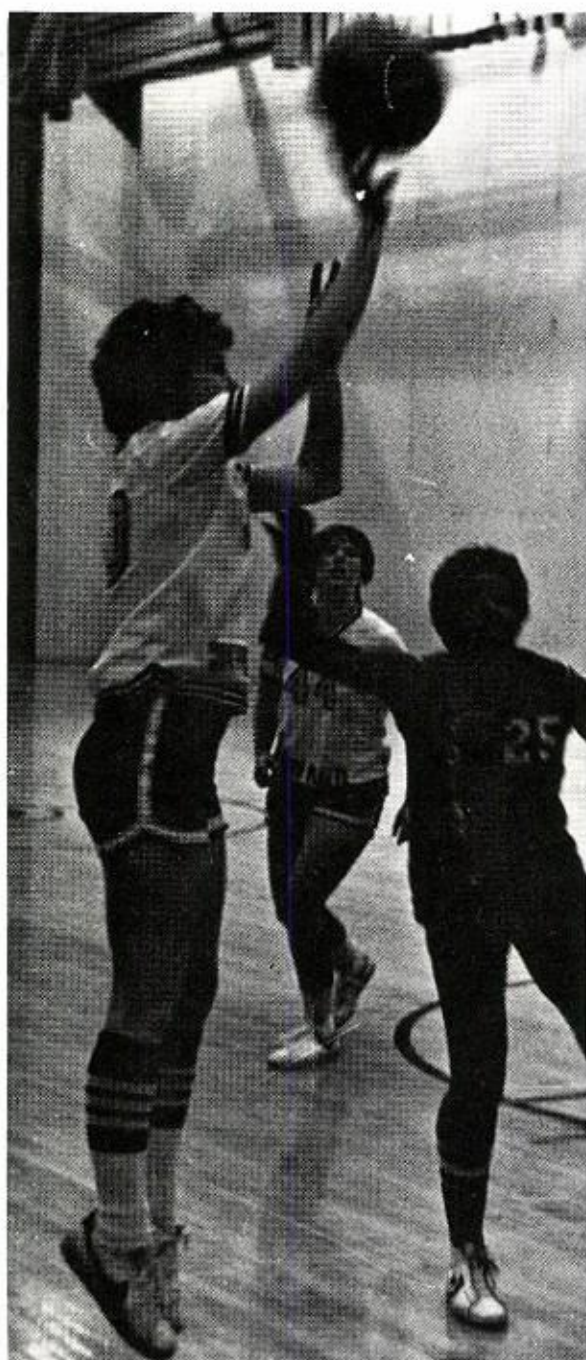

With several wins on their record including Lincoln Southeast, Cozad, Lincoln Northeast, McCook, Ogallala, Alliance, and Lexington, the team ended its regular season play with an 8-7 record.

Going into Districts, the Lady Bulldogs started off with a victory against Scottsbluff after losing to them during regular season play. This was the first District win for the girls ever. The girls then went against number one rated Kearney in the semi-finals, but were unable to pick up a win.

"I'm really proud of our basketball team. They had the best season in the school's history. They all played exceptionally well," said Coach Chuck Francis.

As Districts ended, so did the Girl's Basketball season, but it left the team with a winning record of 9-8.

Lack of experience carries its price

The 1979-80 Boy's Basketball team concluded their season with a 3-14 record. The Bulldogs accomplished their first win against the Hastings Tigers and their second against Alliance.

A 76-67 score against the Scottsbluff Bearcats brought the Bulldogs their first home victory of the season. High scorers in that game were Randy Smidt, contributing 21 points and Don Spaulding 16.

Asked about this year's season, Coach Tom Millsap replied, "Lack of size and experience proved to be costly."

Lone wrestler, Jeff James, goes to state.

Placing fifth in the first invitational against Kearney, the Bulldog wrestlers had a rocky start in their duals.

They won two of their duals and missed picking up more wins by one match in each meet.

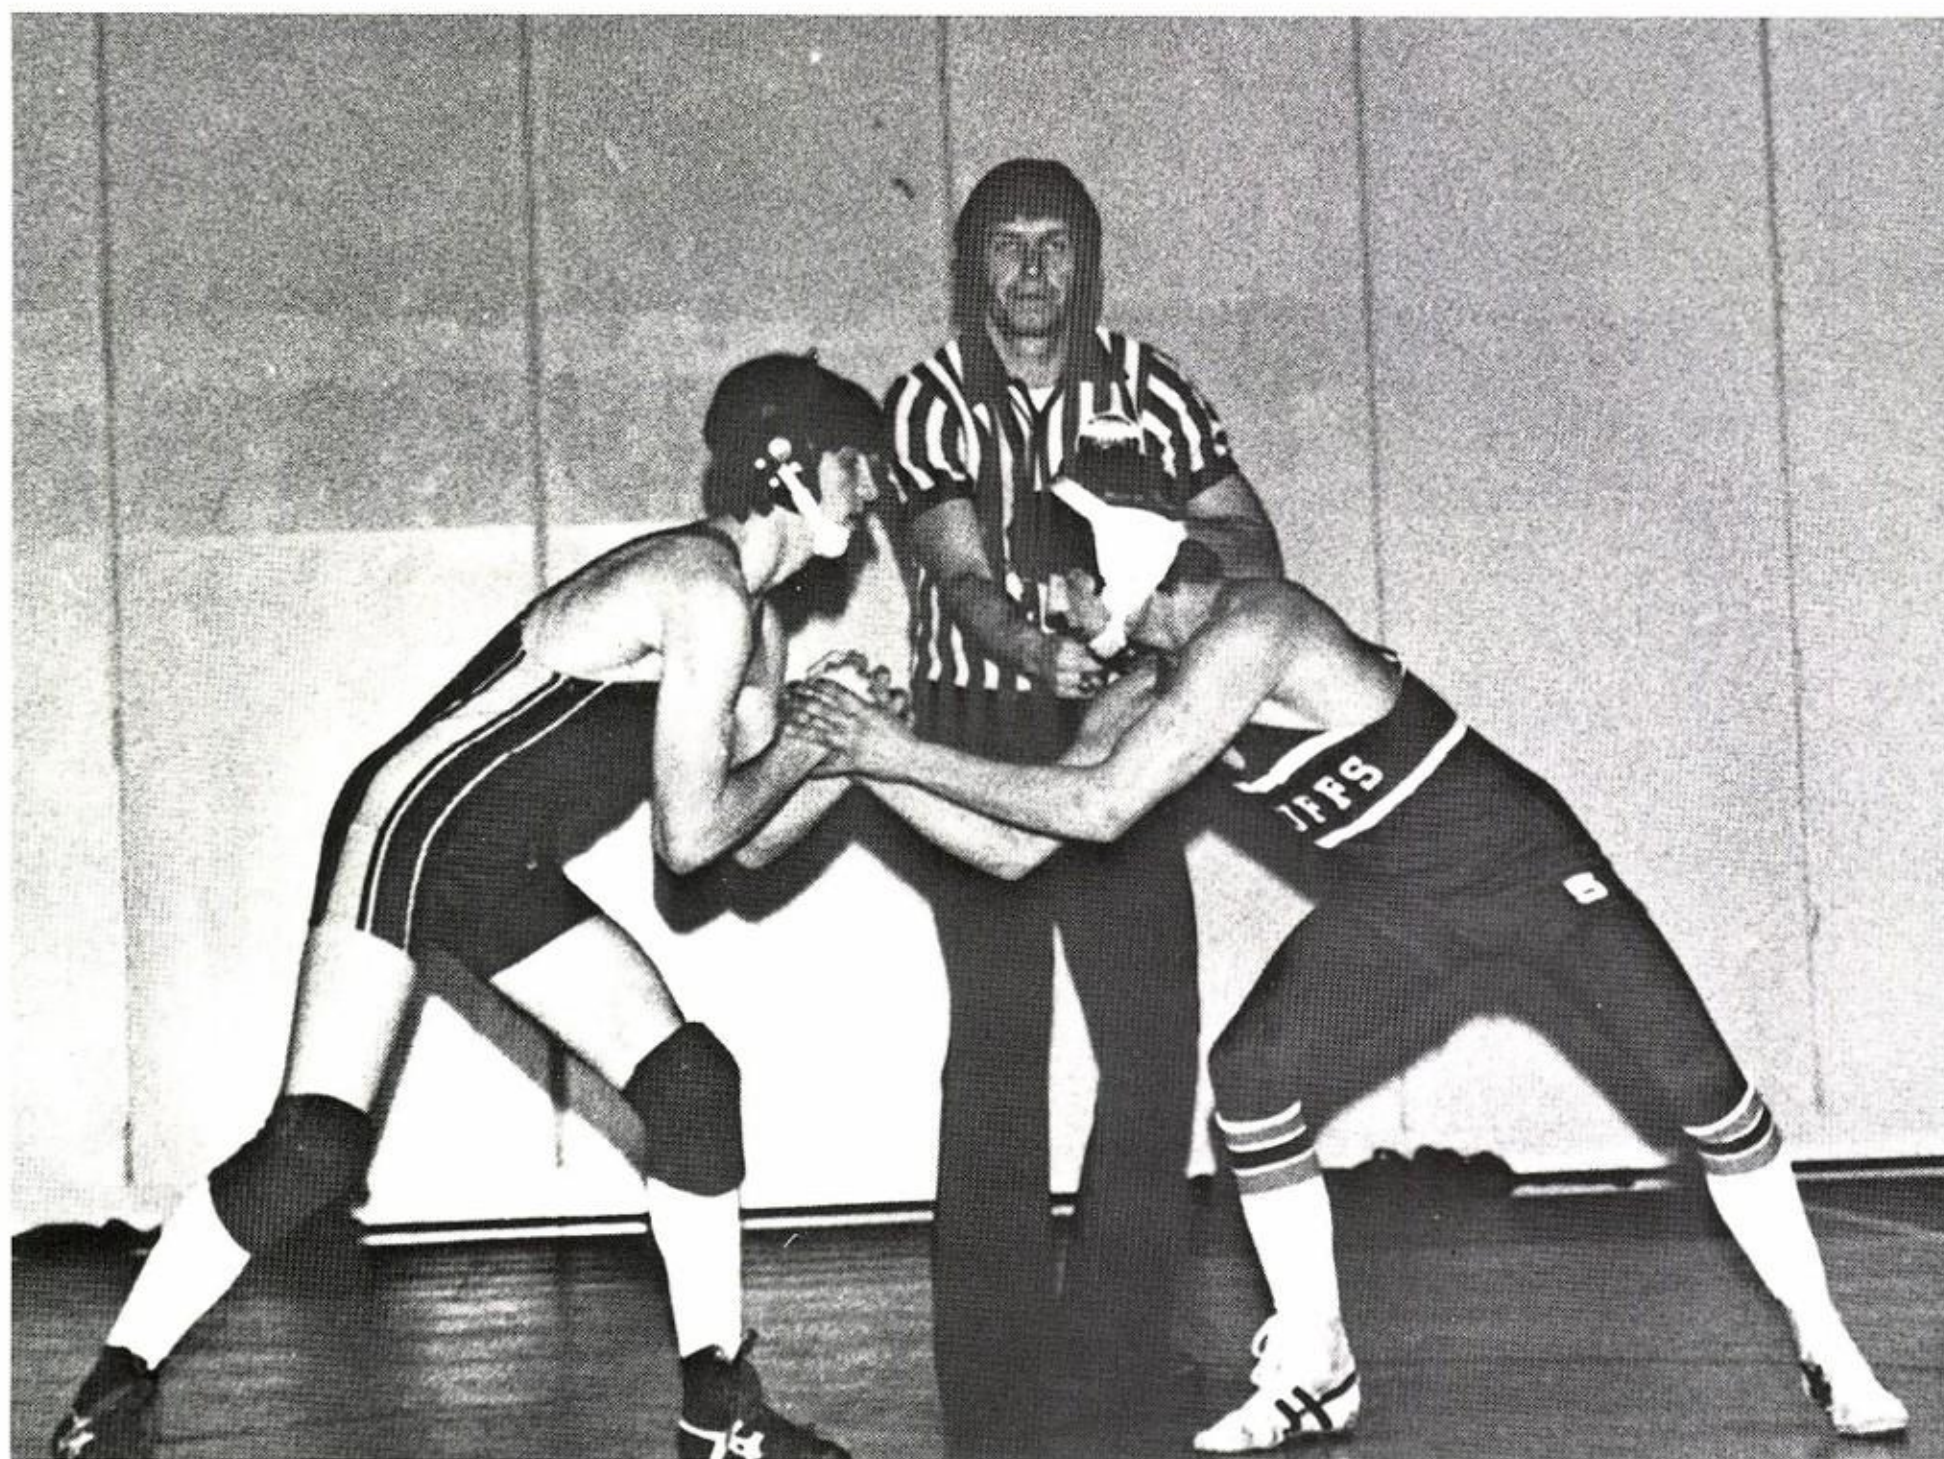

"Overall, we had a good year, but a lack of lucky breaks held us back. We are proud of Jeff James for making state, and probably could have seen more qualify, but a lack of individual wins held several of the wrestlers back," said Coach David Izzo.

"At State, Jeff did well. He won both his first and third matches and lost his second and fourth. Had he won his fourth he would have been assured a place, but he missed by only a few seconds."

Coach Izzo also stated that he had several good sophomores come out who showed good potential as wrestlers.

Young team learns fast, performs well

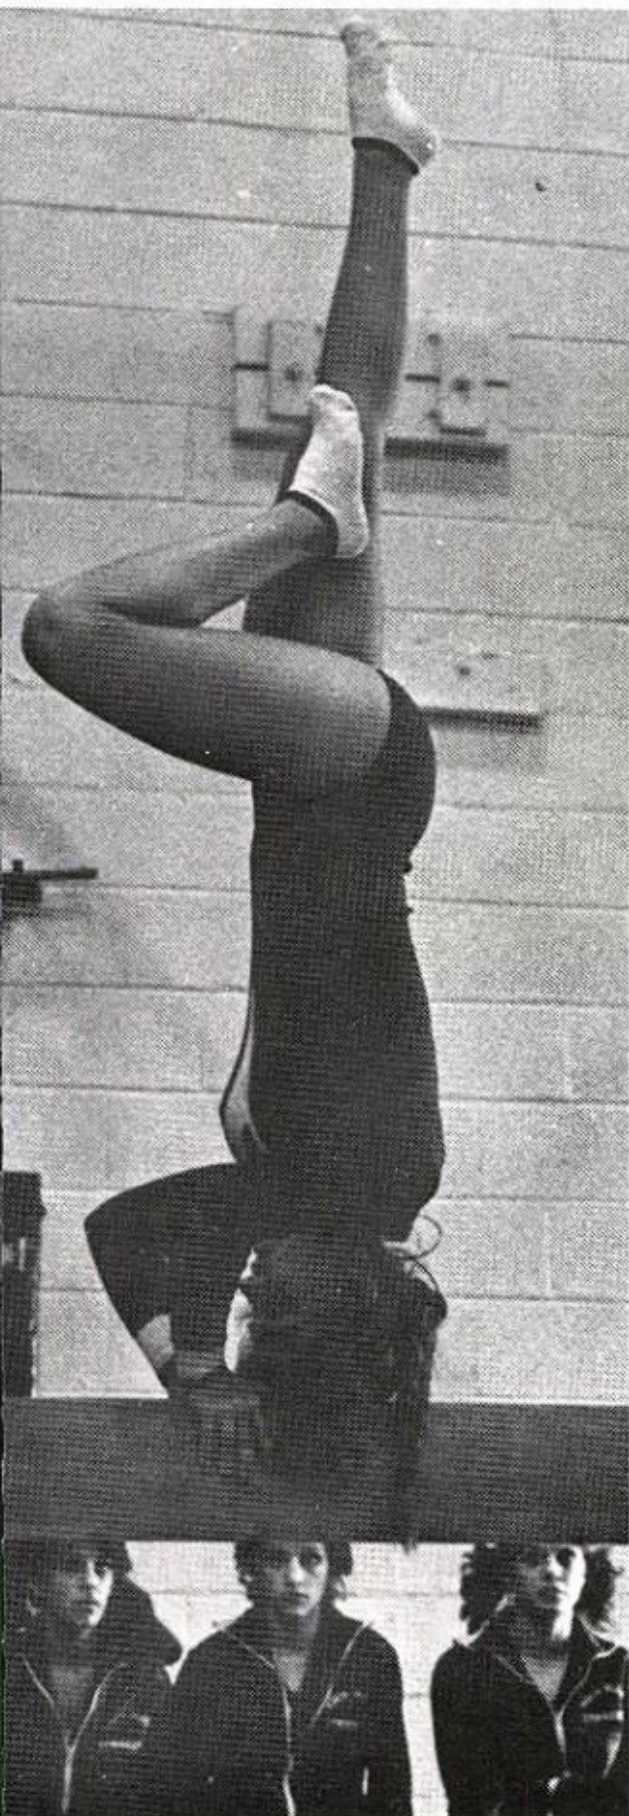

The Girl's Gymnastic team performed well this year winning three of four regular season duals.

"Our performance was a little better than I expected because we have a young team. We have five first-year girls competing at the varsity level and doing well. They learned quickly and picked up their routines right away," said Coach Rich Reinert.

The girls placed fourth in the Grand Island Invitational, fifth in the Trans-Nebraska, and third in Districts.

Team breaks eight records

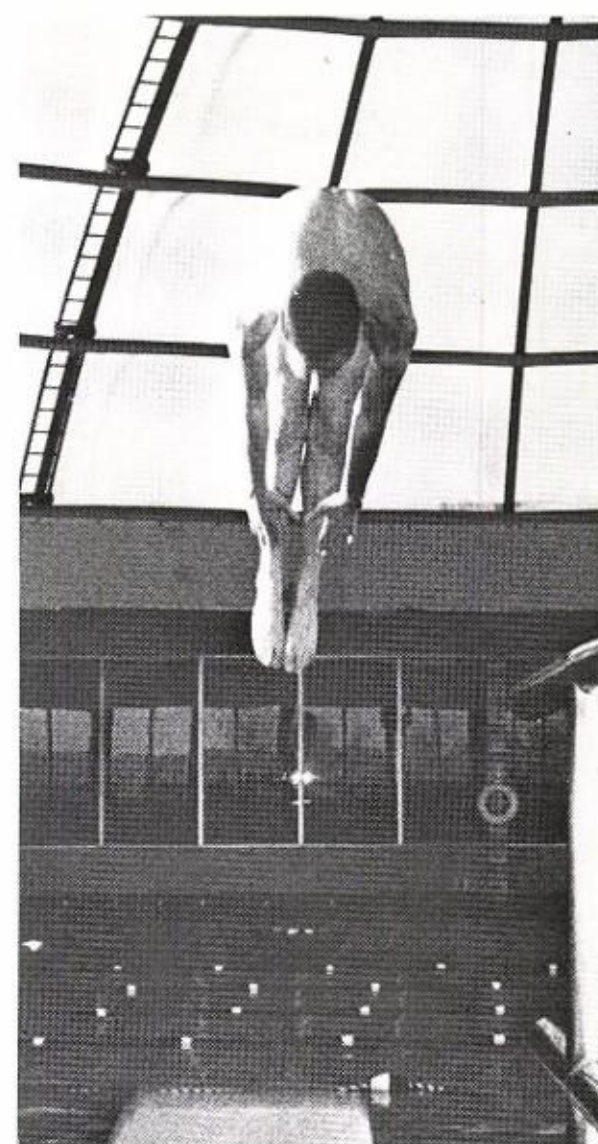

Finishing with a 9-4 record, the boy's swim team broke eight school records.

"As a beginning team, only in it's second year of competition," said Coach Alan Lehmkuhler, "we think we were very successful."

The swimmers showed enthusiasm and self sacrifice by shaving their heads before a major meet. Coach Lehmkuhler said, "We have some young people with the guts who are willing to work and make our future look just as bright as this past season."

First meet postponed by spring blizzard

A late spring blizzard which broke some records set by the Blizzard of '49, caused the postponement of the first track meet. However, the delay did not cool off the Bulldogs spirit as they went on to win the rescheduled meet.

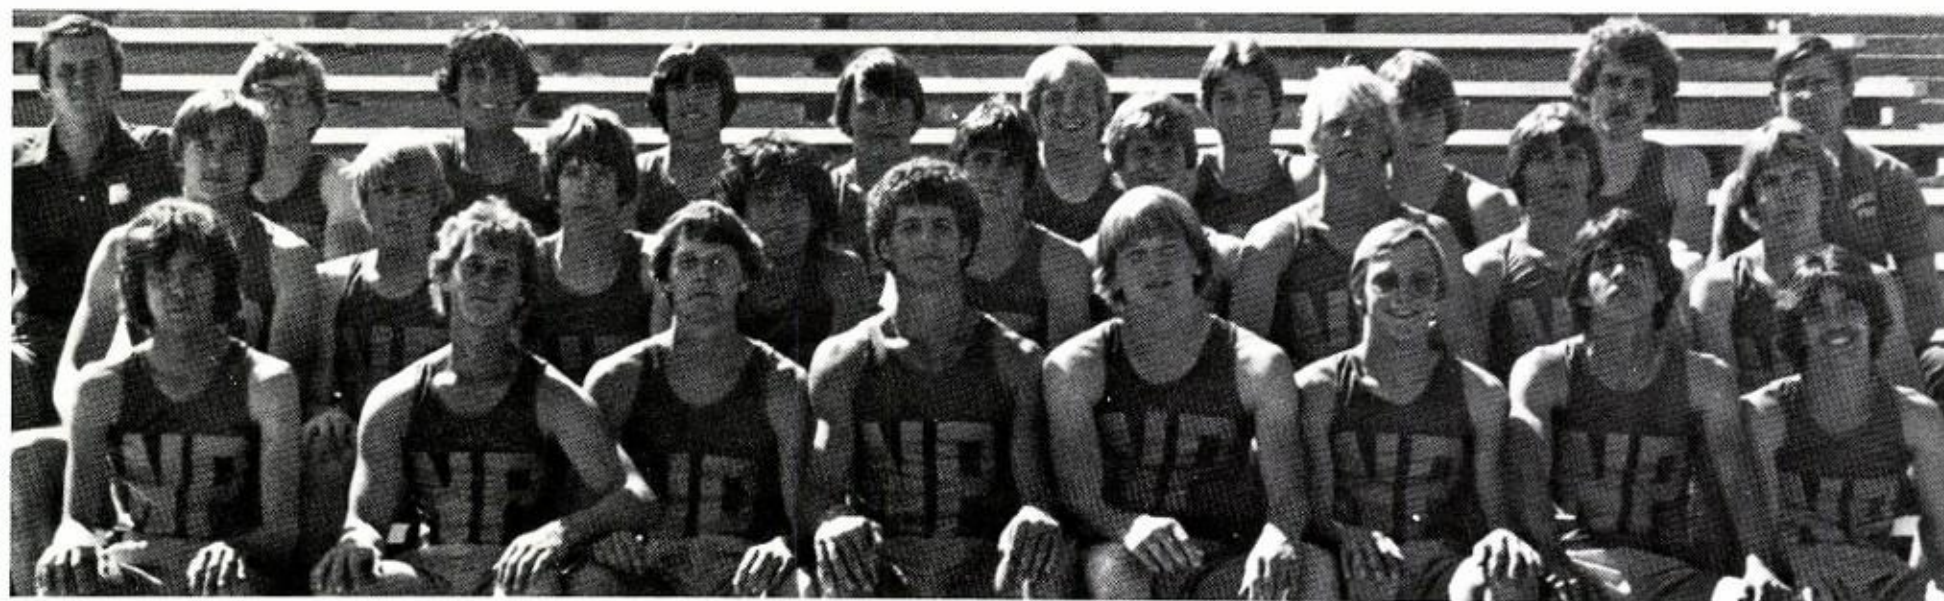

At State, Larry Sanford placed fourth in the polevault, and Randy Smidt placed sixth in the long-jump.

"We had a good season despite the rough beginning. I saw some good progress made by a lot of people," said Coach Doug Martin.

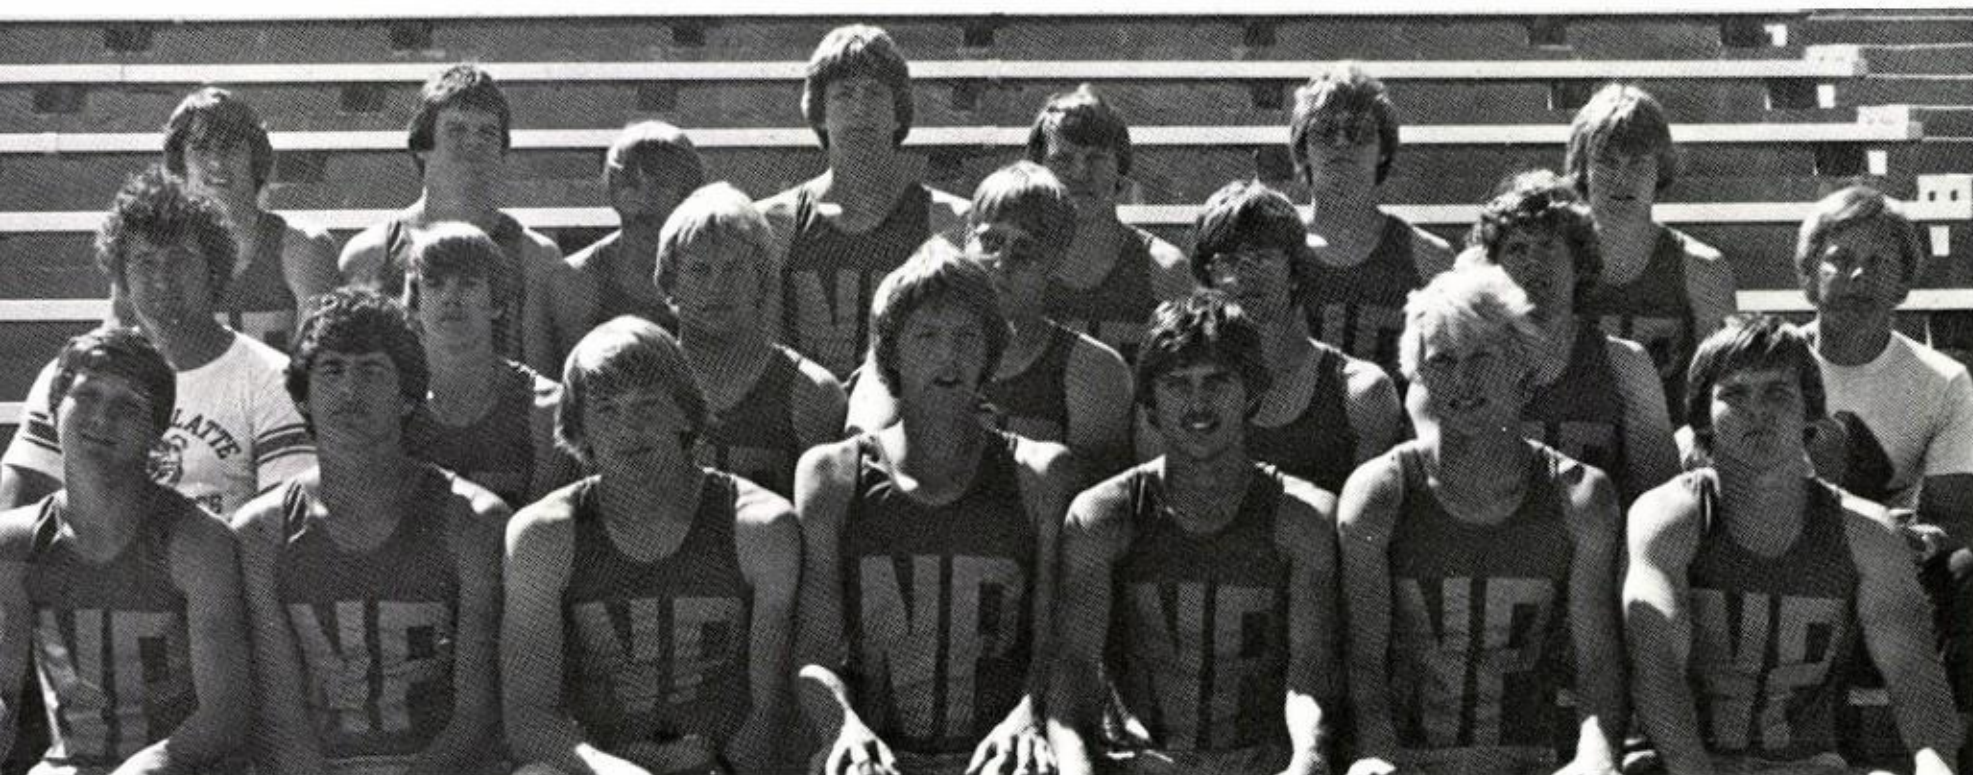

There were also three school records broken. They include Tom Budler in the 300-Meter Low Hurdles, 38.8; Troy Workman in the 100-Meter Dash, 11.4; and the 1600-Meter Relay Team which finished with a time of 3:25. The team consisted of Dan Behn, Tom Budler, Greg Greder, and Troy Workman.

Girl's tennis 'lacks experience, depth'

The 1980 girls tennis team finished their season by placing eleventh at state with Nancy Krizek facing the number one seeded girl in the quarter-finals.

When asked about the team, Coach Linda Carlson said, "A lack of experience hurt us as far as depth goes. The girls worked hard, put up with the weather and seemed to have a good time all season."

With two juniors, six sophomores, four freshmen, and a little more experience, this young team has a promising future ahead.

Eighteen girls letter during '80 season

The girl's track team finished third behind Scottsbluff and Beatrice at the district A-4 track meet qualifying eight girls for state.

The last year for North Platte to host the girls state track meet was a wet and soggy one. Although the girls faced bad weather, they managed to finish with a sixth place tie.

"We had a very rewarding season, with good leadership from the seniors, and talented sophomore and junior classes," said Coach Rick May. "The girls had an outstanding season, and a tie for 6th place at the state meet ended the season on a very fine note."

Dave Weaver lone golf state qualifier

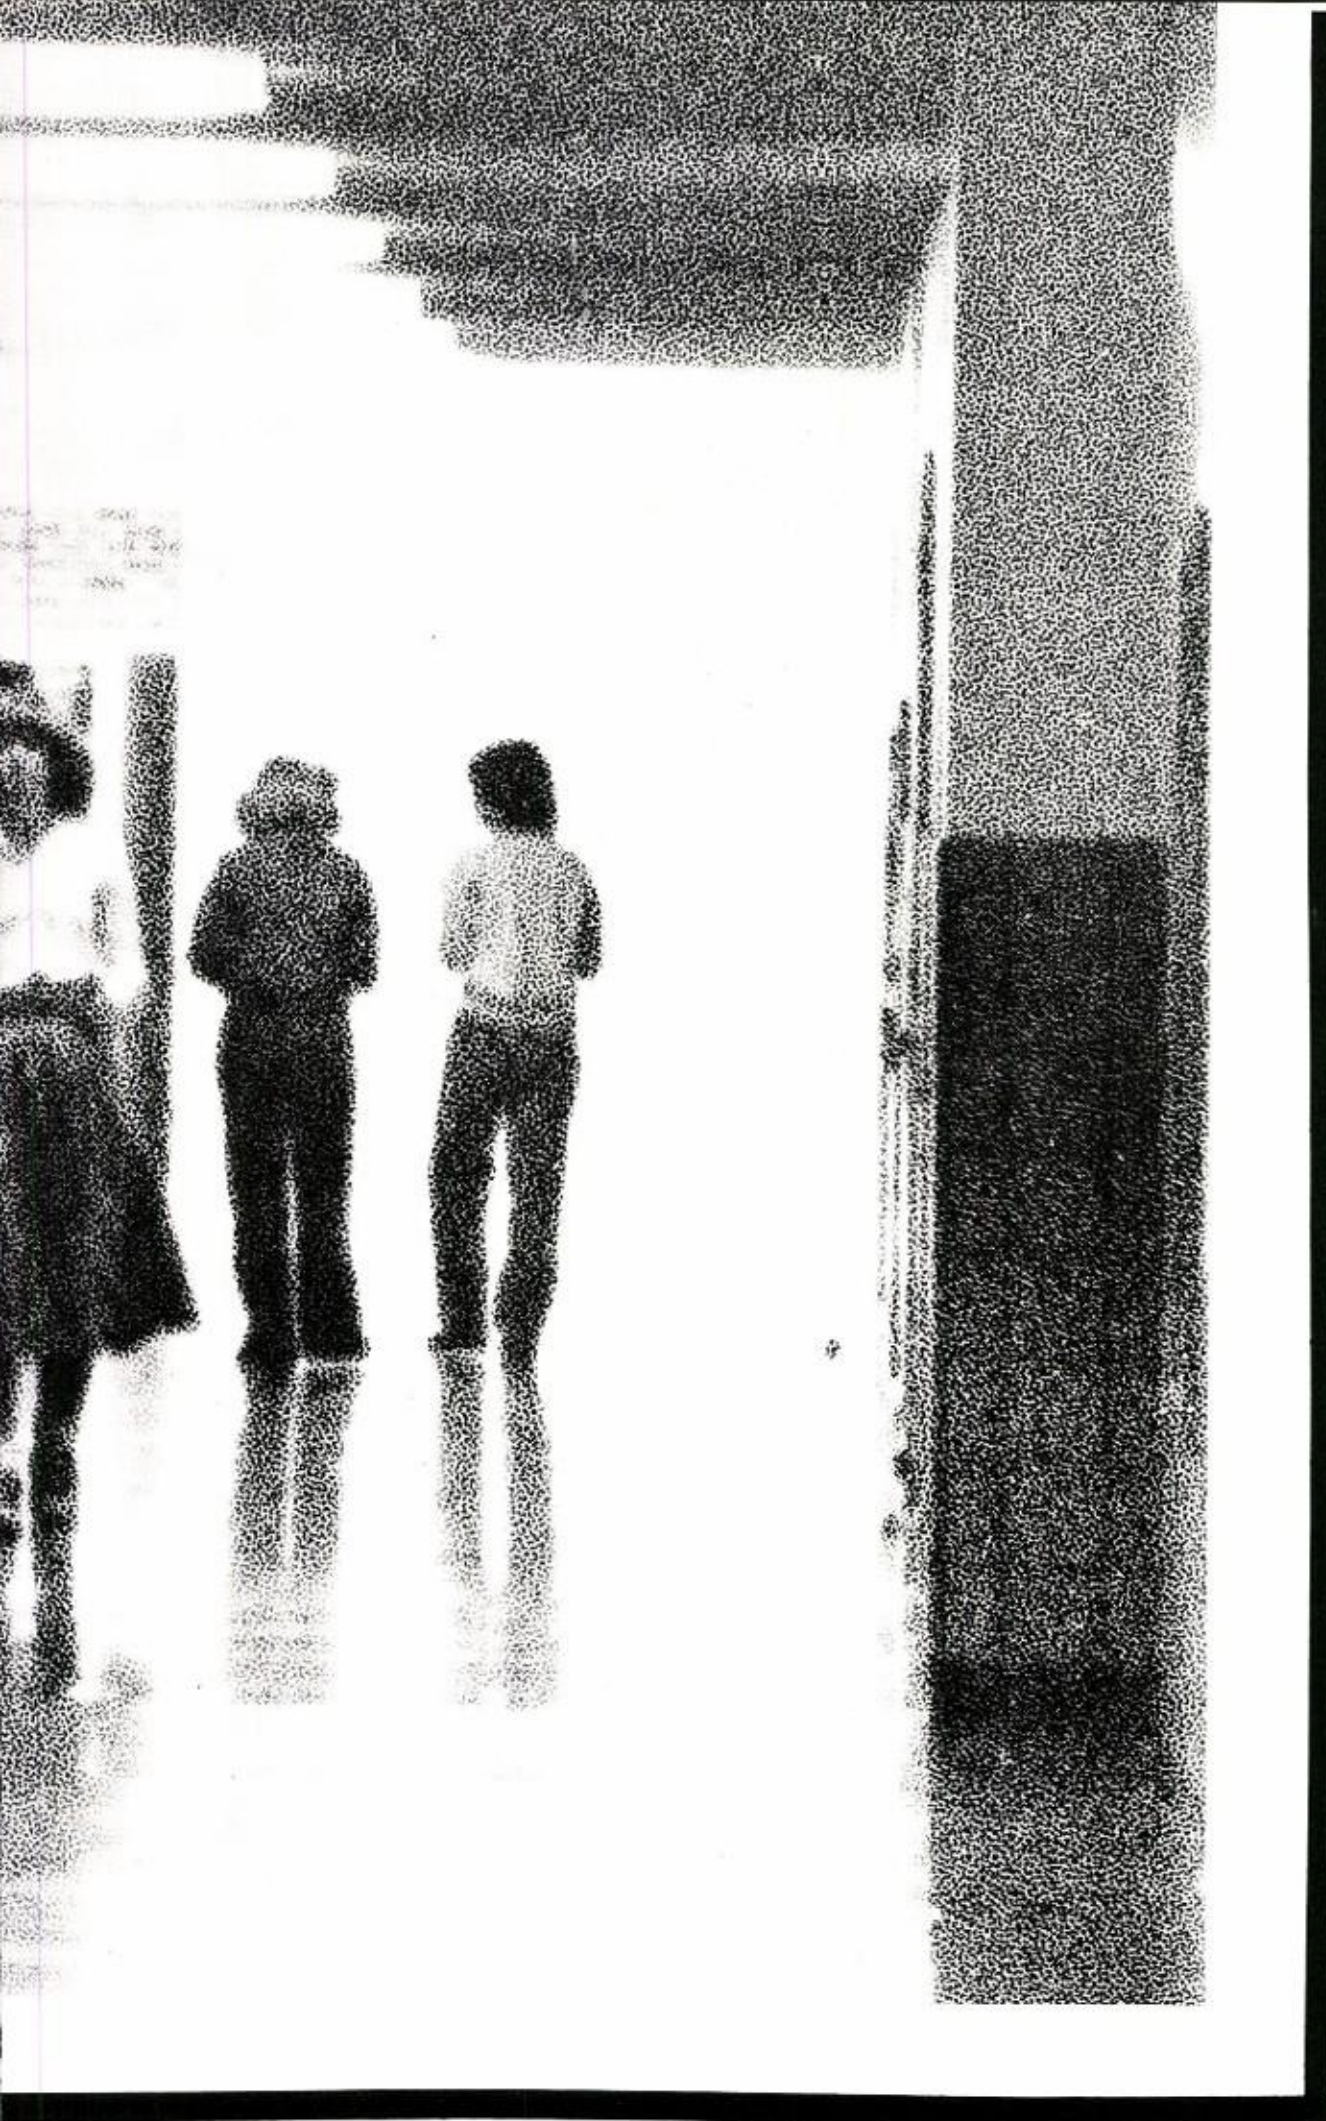

The 1980 boys golf team consisted of two seniors, three juniors, two sophomores, and five freshmen, which probably means good future prospects.

"We got off to a slow start," said Coach Sally Roberts. "The high point of the season was the Big 10 conference meet where we tied for second. Dave Weaver won the meet and was the only qualifier for state."

'In-between' year filled with memories

Being a junior is a memory in itself, not to mention all the other memories that are made during that "in-between" year.

Some of these unforgettable times are: taking several days of English class to labor over Achievement Tests; uniting against the Nazis during the simulation of WWII in 20th Century History; struggling to decide on a topic, find information, and then organize it into a research paper for English; and finally, attempting to solve the dilemma of not having enough money, yet having to decorate for Prom.

Juniors keep busy creating memories, but are always anticipating the events of their final year.

Classes create memories for sophomores

Some sophomores faced their first year with fear, and others with anticipation, but they knew many memories would be made.

Their memories include the potent smell of formaldehyde in Biology; the never ending struggle with verbal and participial phrases in English; flag football and basketball in gym; the sense of power of getting behind the wheel in Drivers Education; and finally, the weeks of selling magazines to earn money for their high school years.

As the school year progressed, unfamiliar faces and places became familiar and the memories linger on.

New company offers challenge to staff

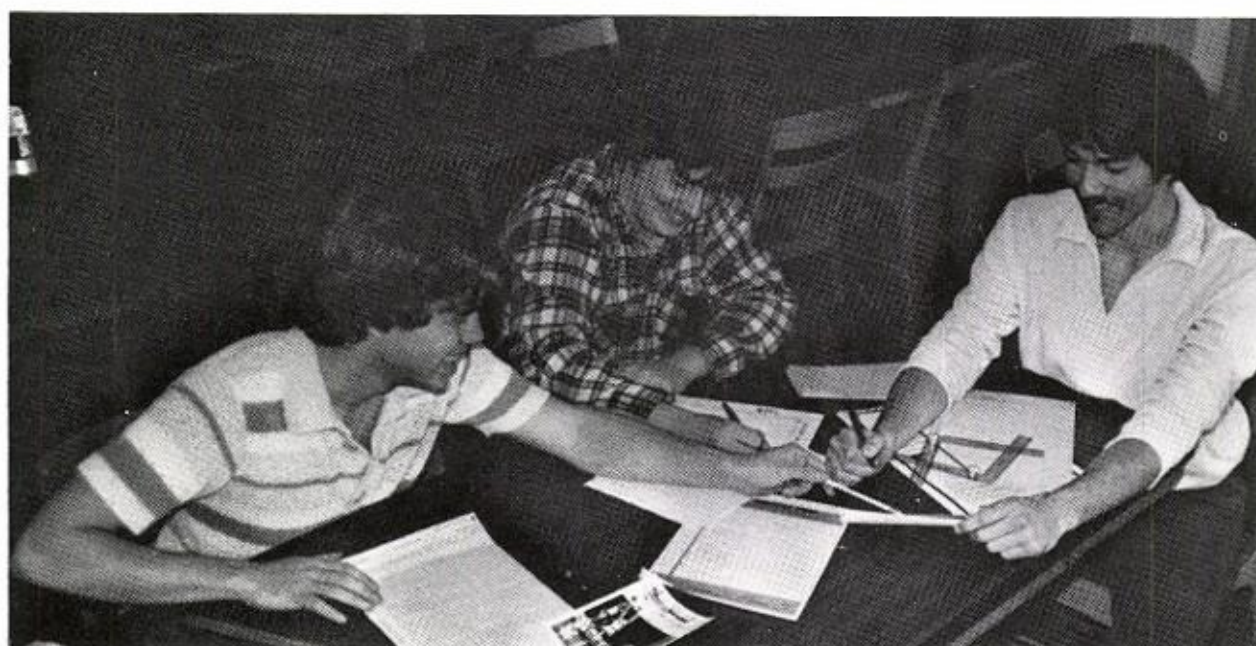

Annual Staff involves hard work, dedication and teamwork to meet each deadline during the year.

With a new company, everyone had to change old ways in order to learn new techniques for this year's annual. "Everyone on this staff is very creative and imaginative. The fun part is seeing how each one expresses themselves in the construction of their pages," said Gina Kucera, co-editor. Annual Staff is a rewarding experience, when the staff sees the final pages of the finished book.

(1) Gina Kucera, and Lee Ann Malizola, co-editors, check to see if things are done right. (2) Joni Broeder and Diana Richard check the spelling of names in the index file. (3) Jerry Wescott, Rich Saighman, and Chuck Schmitt complete pages for the deadline. (4) Sherri Rogers, Eydie Welsh, and Krista Oberst crop pictures for the annual.

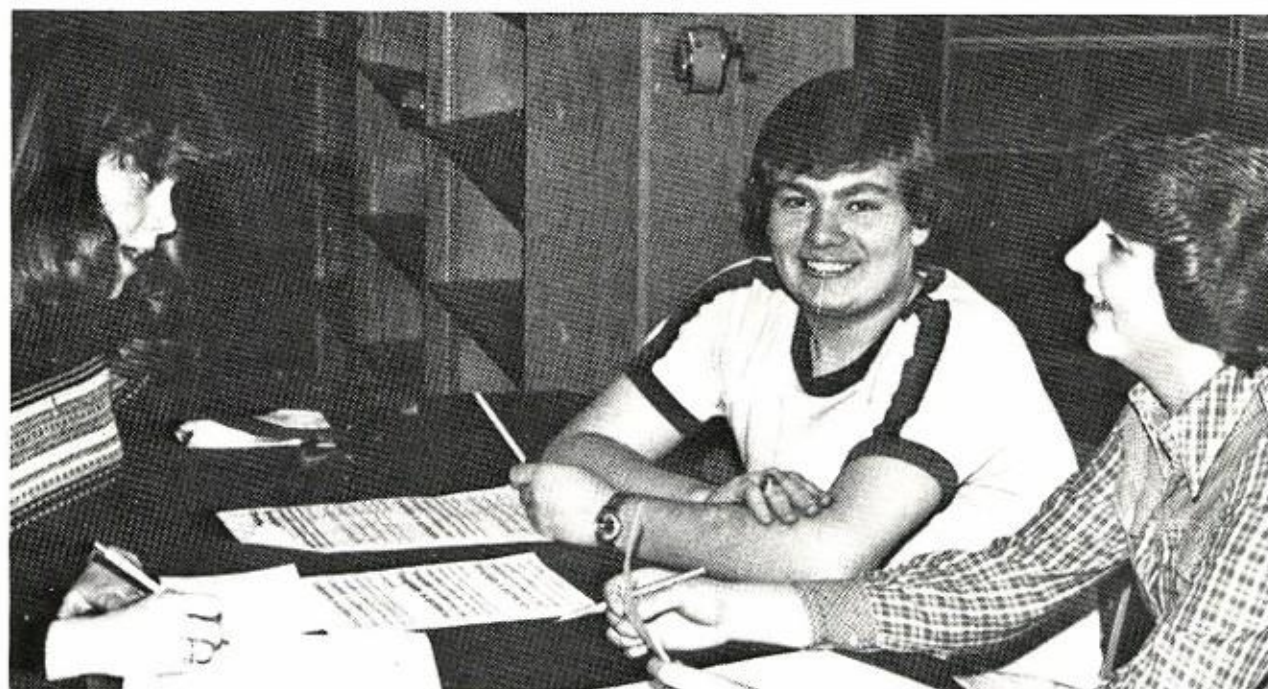

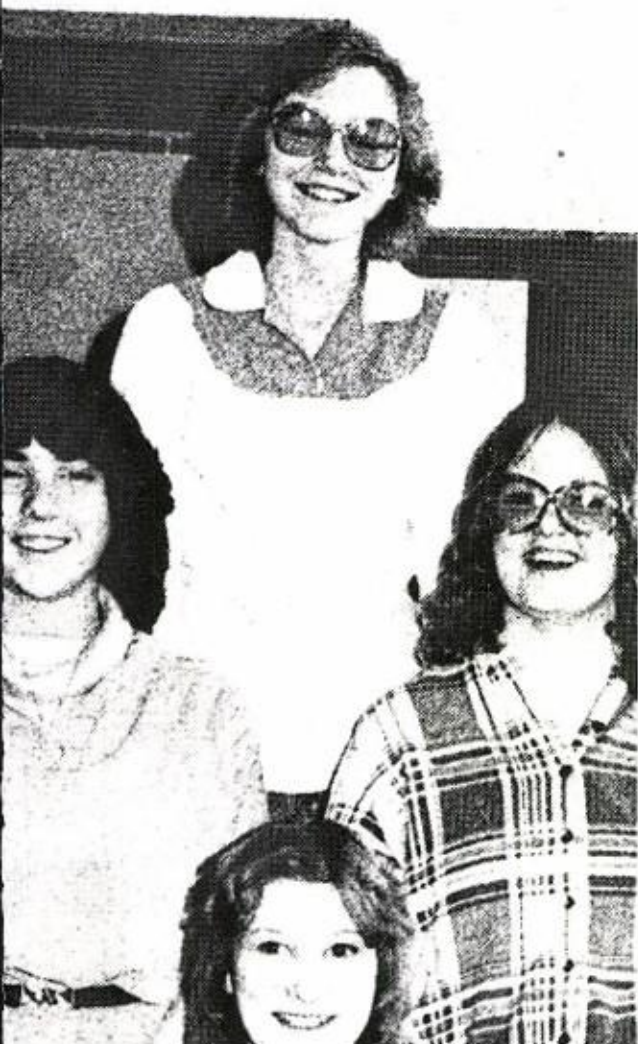

Newspaper staff includes new additions

This year's BULLDOGGER staff consisted of 16 members, with only 5 seniors to offer guidance.

New additions to the paper included: baby pictures of different students, the Bulldog Bomber Award which was given to several students and teachers with unusual looking cars, and a new Mystery Teacher every issue.

For the first time ever, Beginning Journalism students wrote all the stories for a four-page issue in April.

Stompers' performances produce spirit

"I think they are very wierd, but when the going gets wierd, the wierd turn pro," comments Mr. Brad Cool, sponsor. Who else could he be talking about than the Black and Blue Stompers!

Twenty-one male students were involved with the Stompers this year, creating spirit and excitement wherever they went.

The Stompers performed at halftime of the annual Powder Puff football game. To demonstrate their school spirit, they performed a skit at a pep rally before a basketball game. At the "Almost Anything Goes" contest, the Stompers performed with some of the Blue and Gold Pacers.

Jack Cady expressed his views on the year saying, "It's been an experience into the unknown."

Street rallies started by cheerleaders

Faced with the problem of dwindling school spirit, the 1979-80 cheerleaders had a job cut out for them. Mrs. Patti Severson, faculty sponsor, and a number of students, helped these girls to increase Bulldog pride.

The girls began to raise money early in the summer and continued through the sports seasons. They painted house numbers on curbs, held a cheerleading clinic for grade school girls, sold T-shirts, hats and mittens, buttons and window stickers.

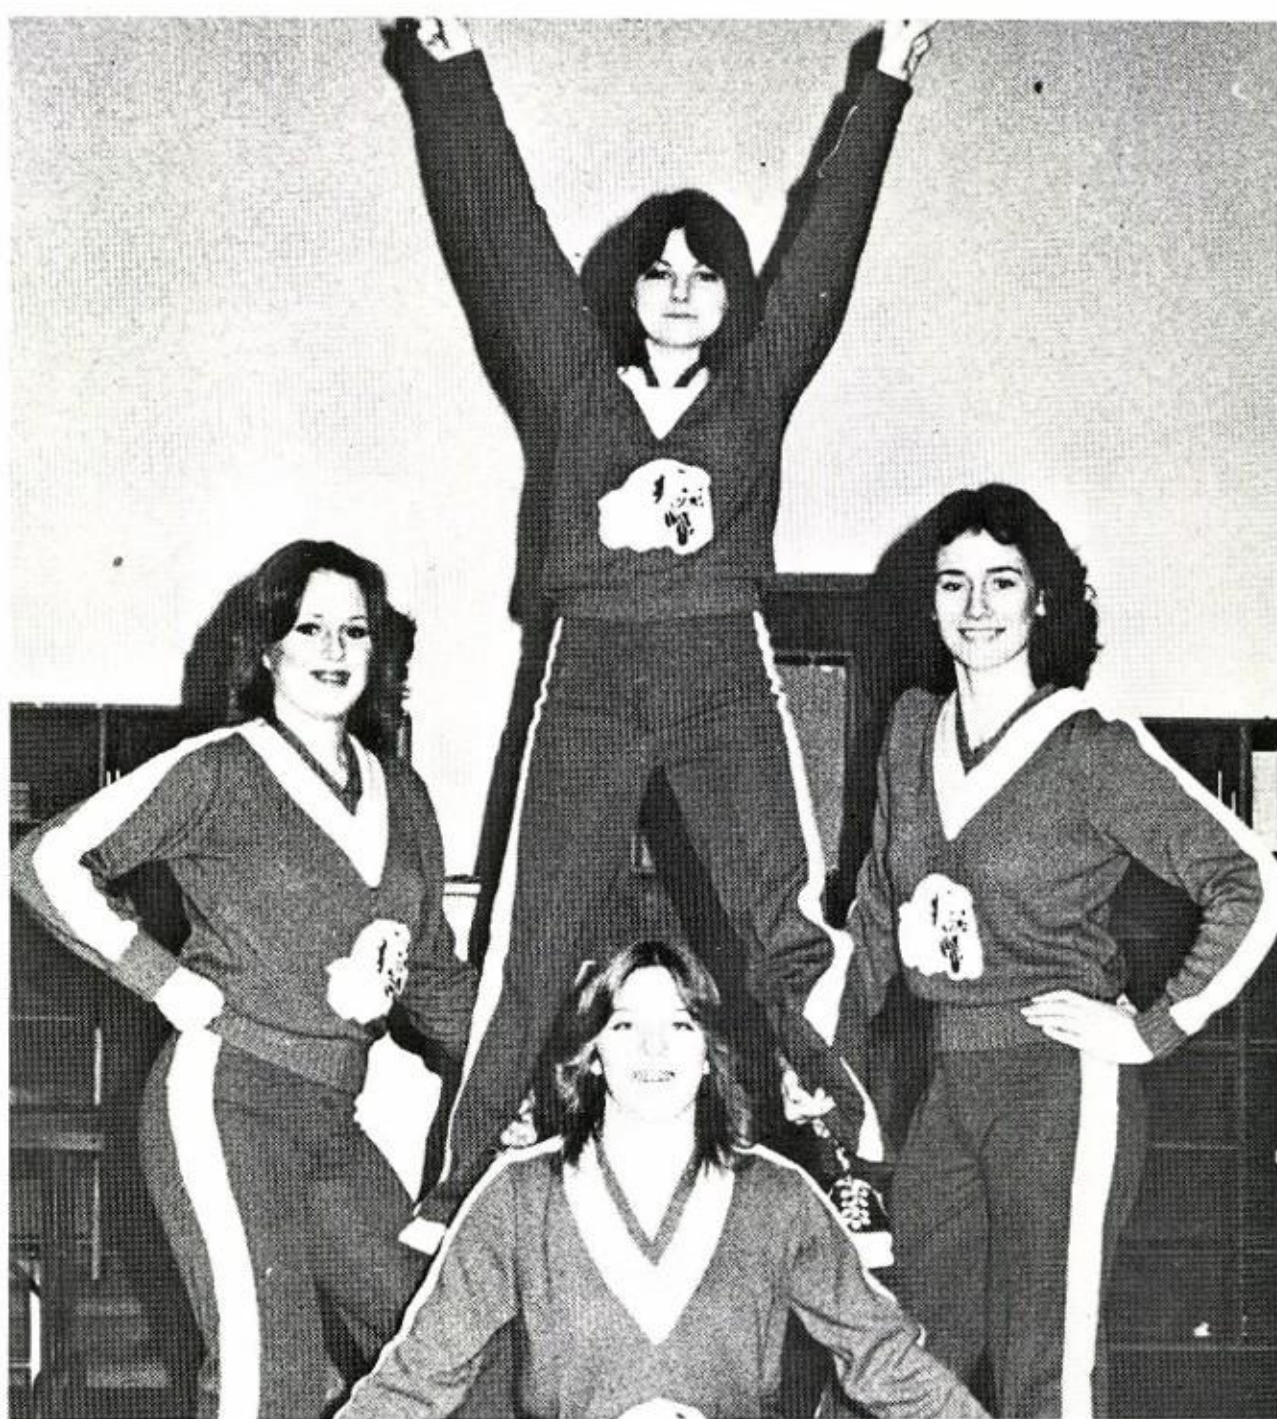

Street rallies and painted windows were a new touch for spirit. The tradition of annual bonfires and weekly pep rallies continued. After much debate the cheerleaders decided on, drafted, and got administration approval for the next year.

New cheerleaders were chosen and seniors retired their positions during a dinner at the end of the year.

Chess members improve throughout year

"In order to be a good chess player, you must show self-discipline, good sportsmanship and concentration," points out Mr. Wayne Pressnell, Chess Club sponsor.

Chess Club is open for anyone who is interested in, or would like to become familiar with, the world of rooks, kings, queens, pawns, and bishops.

Mr. Pressnell, sponsor of Chess Club, said, "I feel that the quality of players in the club has vastly improved within the past few years." Three of the four people who placed second in state, returned to boost the team this year.

Members participated in several tournaments throughout the year.

Debate members prepare, travel, learn

Debate, an elective class at the high school level, involves hard work, research and reasoning in order to prepare for each tournament.

Besides all the time and effort spent preparing for debates, members are able to travel, meet a lot of friends, and learn more about world problems.

This year's resolution was Resolved: That the United States should significantly change its foreign trade policies.

Sense of leadership instilled in Deca

The local DECA started the year with a pizza party, hayride and a skating party in the fall. During the Christmas season members rang bells for the Salvation Army, as well as selling coloring books and school mugs.

DECA also opened a school store named the Locker Stocker. The name was selected from several entries received from students.

State DECA Convention was in March at the Omaha Hilton. North Platte took 18 of its DECA students who won various awards. Qualifying for nationals in Miami Beach were Bill Allen, Camy Eggers, and Ken Wederski. Bill Allen was also elected State DECA President.

"The 1979-1980 school year proved to be an outstanding and exciting year. The main goal of DECA is to instill a sense of leadership into young people to make their year a success with the strong group of leaders we had. Everyone accomplished a lot of goals that each one had set for themselves and I hope next year the students will continue to grow and get involved even more with DECA. DECA truly is a learning and funfilled organization," said Mr. Doug Strobe, DECA Sponsor.

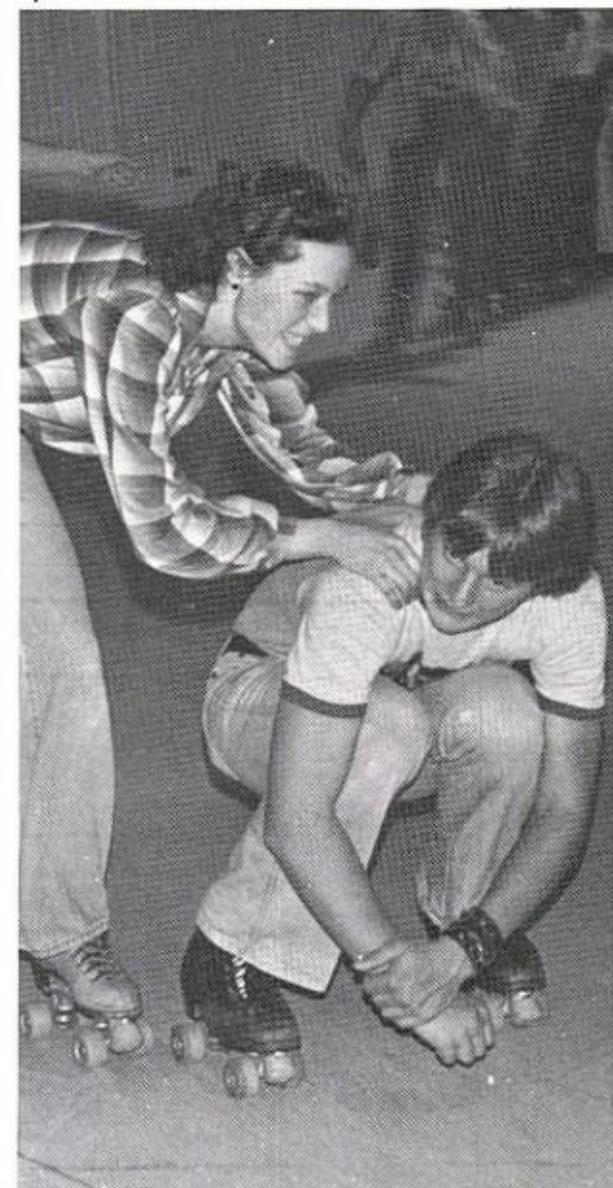

DECA (Distributive Education Clubs of America) is a group set out to develop an understanding for education in marketing and distribution in the competitive enterprise system.

FBLA assists DECA with coupon booklets.

Future Business Leaders of America is a club relating to business subjects offered in high school.

Through the year, FBLA typed coupons for a DECA booklet, had a bake sale donating the money to the Good Fellow Shoe Fund, a skating party, a progressive dinner in December, and again wrapped apples on Valentine's Day for the teachers. In appreciation for their employers, FBLA held a breakfast Employer-Employee Banquet.

The state FBLA convention was attended by eight members in Omaha winning four honorable mentions in Accounting and Business Communications.

'Don't Drink The Water' highlights year

Drama Club members provided actors, backstage preparations, make up and lighting for one full length play and the one-acts during the year. In the fall, the play DON'T DRINK THE WATER was directed by Mr. Skip Altig, speech and debate teacher.

Drama member's productions also included a three-act play and the one-acts.

Requirements met by twenty journalists

This year, Quill and Scroll consisted of 20 high school journalists. To be a member of this National Honorary Society, students must meet certain requirements set by the Quill and Scroll Society, and be on either newspaper staff or annual staff.

Annual staff members must meet all deadlines and newspaper staff members must have 160 published inches. All members must be in the upper third of their class.

Photographers help produce publications

Dedicated is the best word to describe the staff photographers. Newspaper staff, and especially annual staff, depend on them to help produce their publications.

Photographers take pictures of various school activities at all hours of the day, develop the film, contact the negatives, and print the pictures needed.

This takes a lot of time before school, during free periods, and after school.

FFA receives superior rating at State

Mr. Harold Roker was the new sponsor for FFA this year. "The chapter members worked very diligently in achieving the goals. This was evident by the superior rating received at the State Convention," he said.

Activities throughout the year included the District 7 Livestock Judging contest in Ogallala, the District FFA and Agriculture contests in Curtis, and the Western Area Livestock Judging Contest in North Platte.

The Sweetheart Dance started off National FFA Week Feb. 16—23. Other projects included: the Children's Barnyard at the county fair, selling Farm Journal subscriptions, delivering phone books, and fruit, cheese, sausage, and candy sales.

Better participation brings good year

Girls Intramural Athletics started off the year with a get-acquainted pizza party in September.

The annual Powder Puff Football game was in October, with the seniors defeating the sophomores in first-half action and the juniors in the second half.

Initiation of the sophomores took place at the slumber party in November.

GIA also sponsored volleyball intramurals and then basketball intramurals.

The last event of the year was the Mother-Daughter Tea in May.

Mrs. Linda Carlson, sponsor, comments: "I felt that GIA had another successful year. We had more kids involved in the intramural program."

GIA also sold T-shirts and shorts this year.

Sponsor impressed with JCL's progress

The Junior Classical League, commonly known as JCL, is for any student who has taken Latin or is currently taking Latin.

With growing membership, the club started early to raise money for their conference in Omaha and Estes Park. Money-making projects included selling candy at the JV football and volleyball games, as well as selling "Loveables, small stuffed animals.

All of the hard work and effort paid off at the end of the year. The members earned enough money to attend the conferences.

Mrs. Beth McNeel, sponsor, said, "I was very impressed with the progress that the club members made this year."

Key Club has children's Christmas party

Key Club members, sponsored by the North Platte Kiwanis Club, work to better the school and community. During football season, Key Club sold concessions and collected trash after each home game. Other activities included a Christmas party for underprivileged children with Tri-Hi-Y and a skating party with FBLA. Members also sold popcorn door to door for Kiwanis competing against each other within the club.

Some members planned to go to the state convention in Omaha in March but because of a spring blizzard they were unable to do so.

Letter Club members continue activities

Letter club is an organization for any student who has lettered in an interscholastic sport. The students were sponsored by Mrs. Linda Carlson, Mr. Robert Meredith, and Mr. Ben Barends before he resigned.

The students participated in activities throughout the year such as selling concessions during basketball games and the girl's state track meet. The club served a picnic for the faculty in the fall and a GIA—Letter Club picnic at the end of the school year. Members also went on a trip to Lincoln to see the Nebraska-Penn State football game on a Saturday last fall.

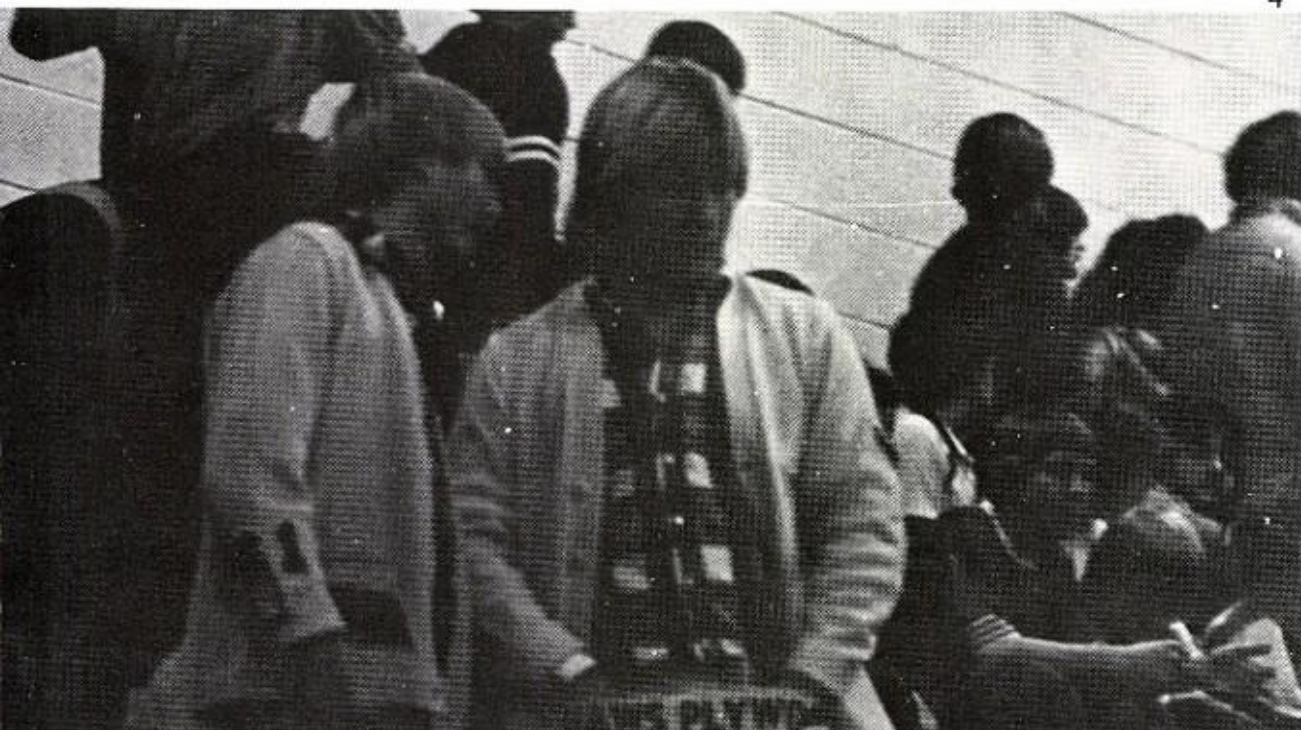

As a token of appreciation, the Letter Club presented Mr. Barends an adding machine for his new business.

The club gave scholarships to three seniors.

Obligations clarified by constitution

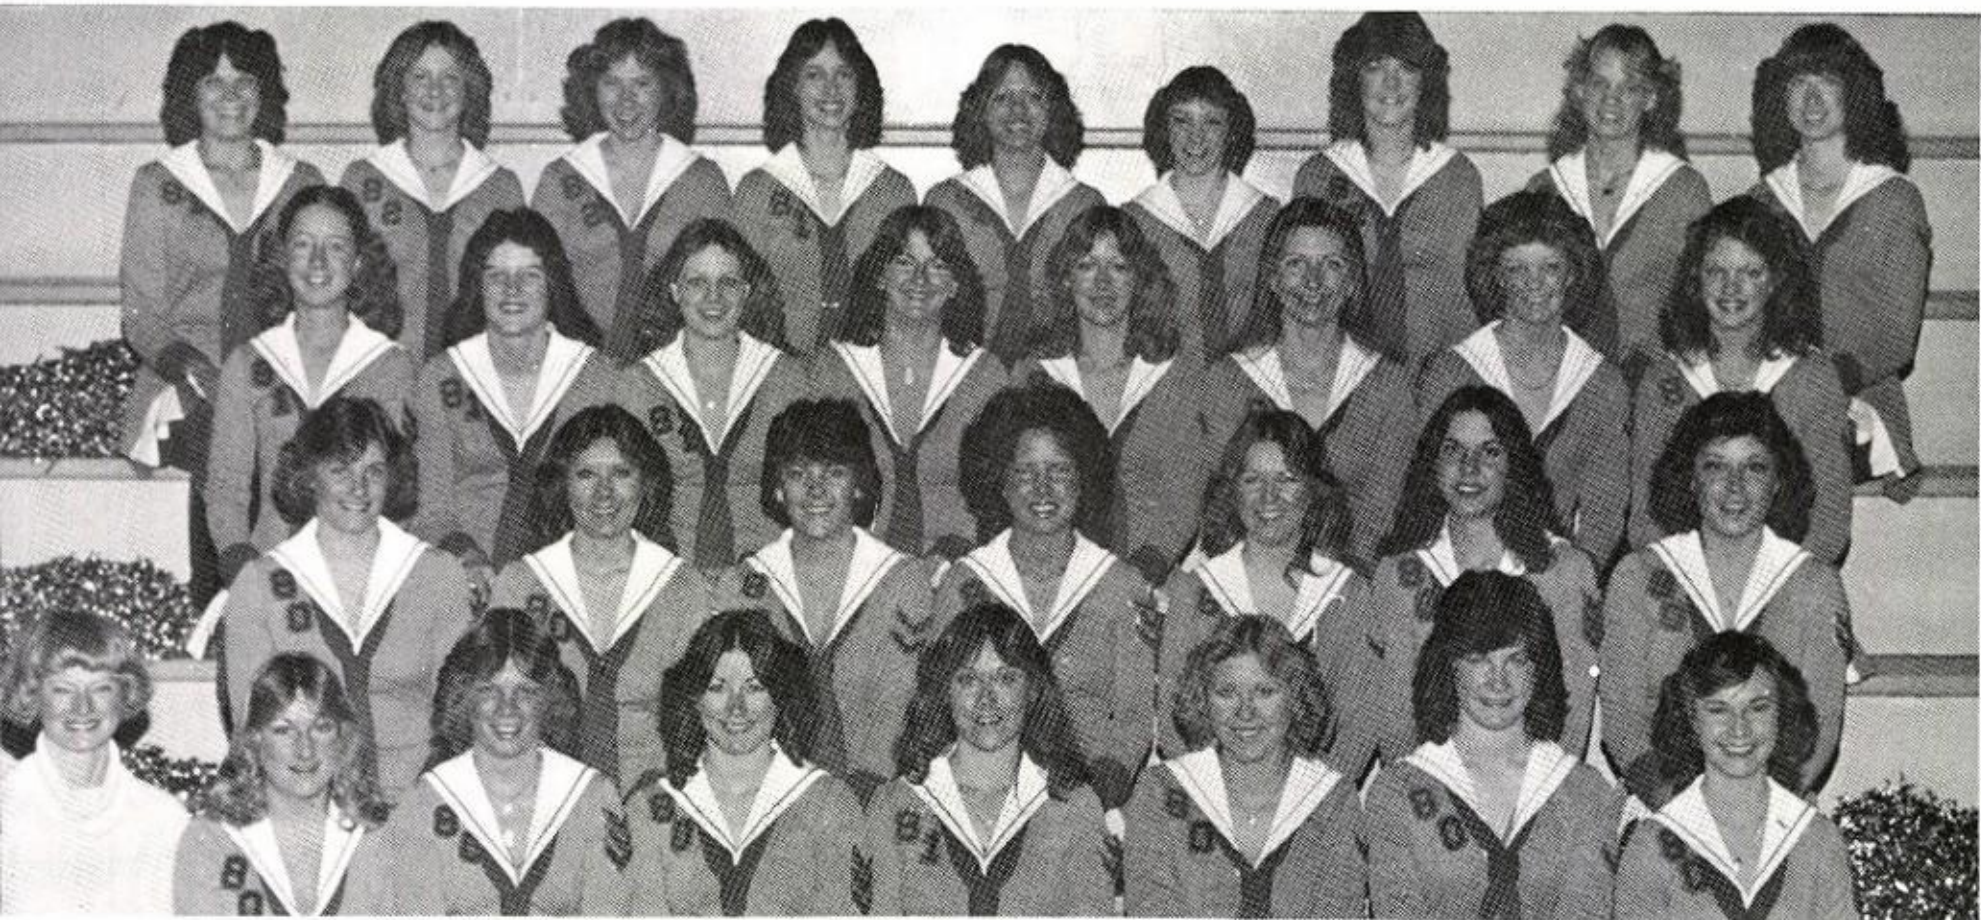

With the addition of a fourth alternate, the Blue and Gold Pacers elected 36 members this year, instead of the previous 35. Also, some new rules were made in the Pacer's constitution that clarified performance obligations. New boots and new T-shirts were ordered.

To start off the year, Pacers performed at the North-South All-Star Basketball Game in August at Mid-Plains. Pacers also performed at one home football game and at four home basketball games, the last one being the "Senior Salute".

For their final appearance, Pacers performed at the Mid-Plains College Knight's last game.

Other drill team activities included a performance for a ladies' club at the Elks, a surprise pajama breakfast given by the seniors, and a pizza party to end the year.

Club members present successful rodeo

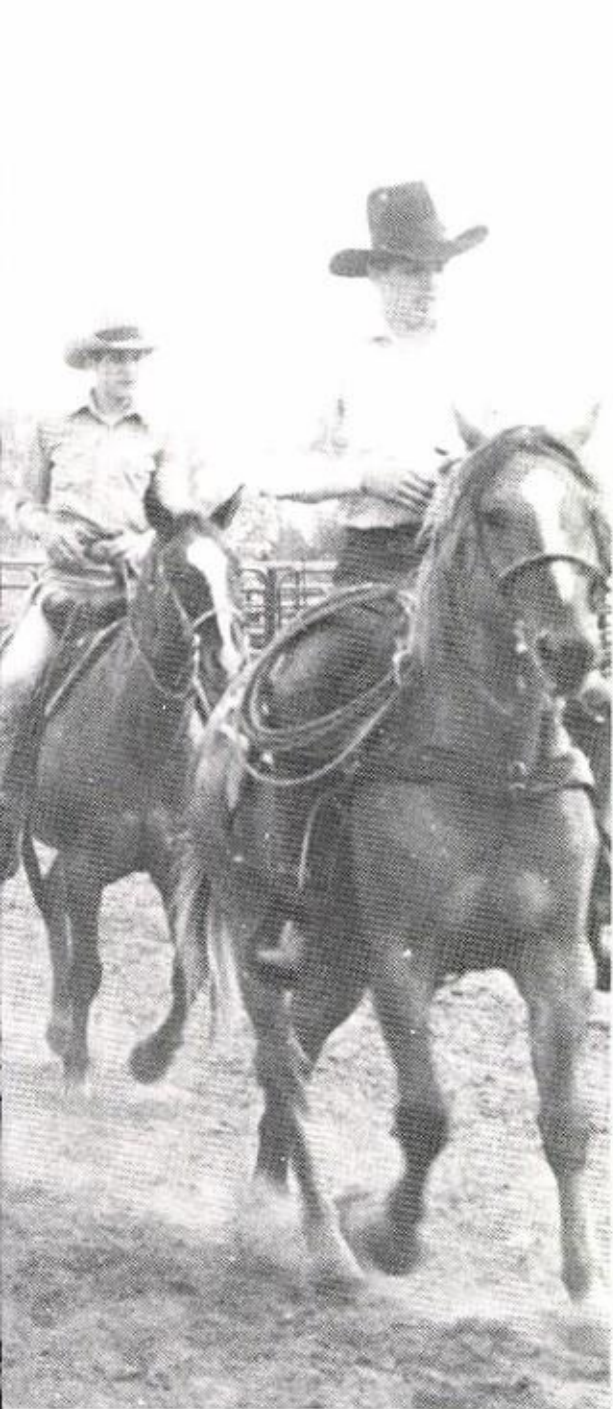

The goal of the Rodeo Club to put on a successful rodeo was achieved May 9-11 as they hosted nearly 200 contestants from schools across the state.

This year's club consisted of approximately 30 members. There were quite a few younger members this year but Mr. Rich Reinert, one of the club's sponsors, feels they all put forth a good effort and the age factor will be beneficial to the club in the coming years.

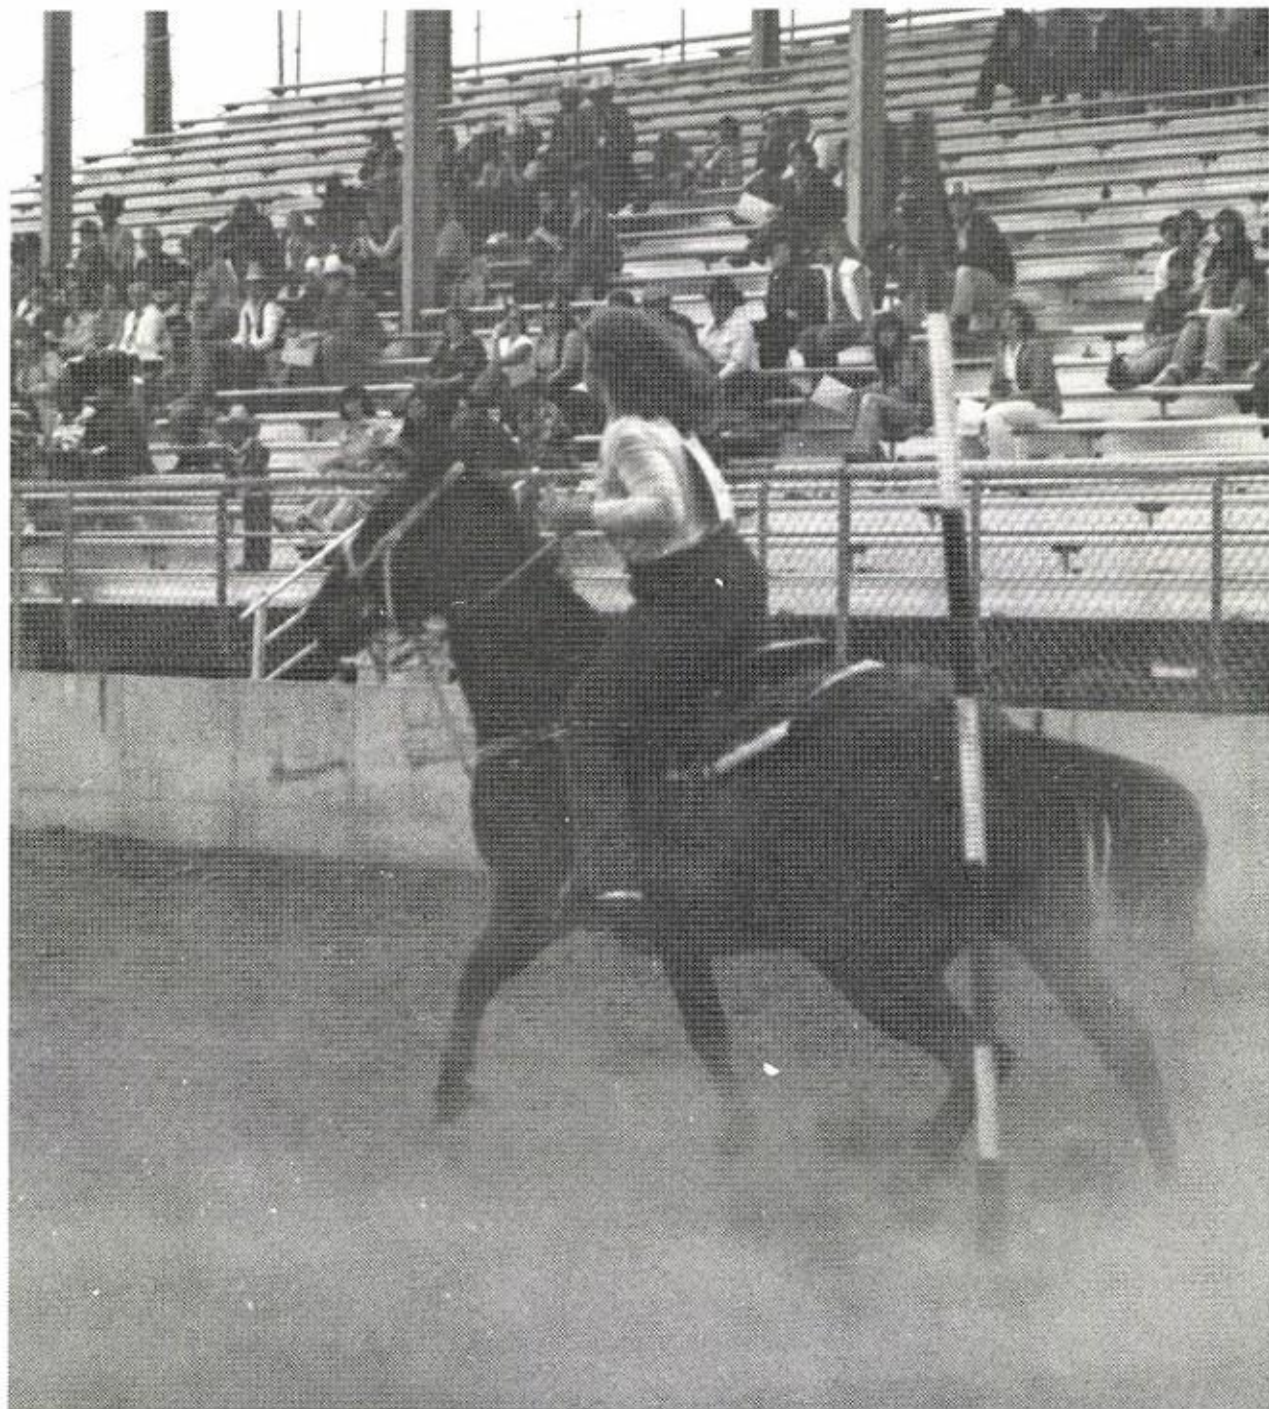

Although Rodeo Club is a school organization, members participate in various rodeos until about the first of July.

Recipients of this year's scholarships in memory of Tuffy Rowley were Tammie Halligan and Mickie Albrecht.

StuCo fills each month with activities

The new year started with the elections of sophomore representatives in September. In October StuCo donated $500 to a Homecoming Fund to be used now and in the future. The '79 year for StuCo ended with a Christmas dance.

A suggestion box was planned, designed, and set up in January to help students voice their opinions. StuCo added their touch to Valentine's Day by delivering carnations to students whose friends had ordered them earlier.

In March the marquee was designed, voted upon, and blue-printed.

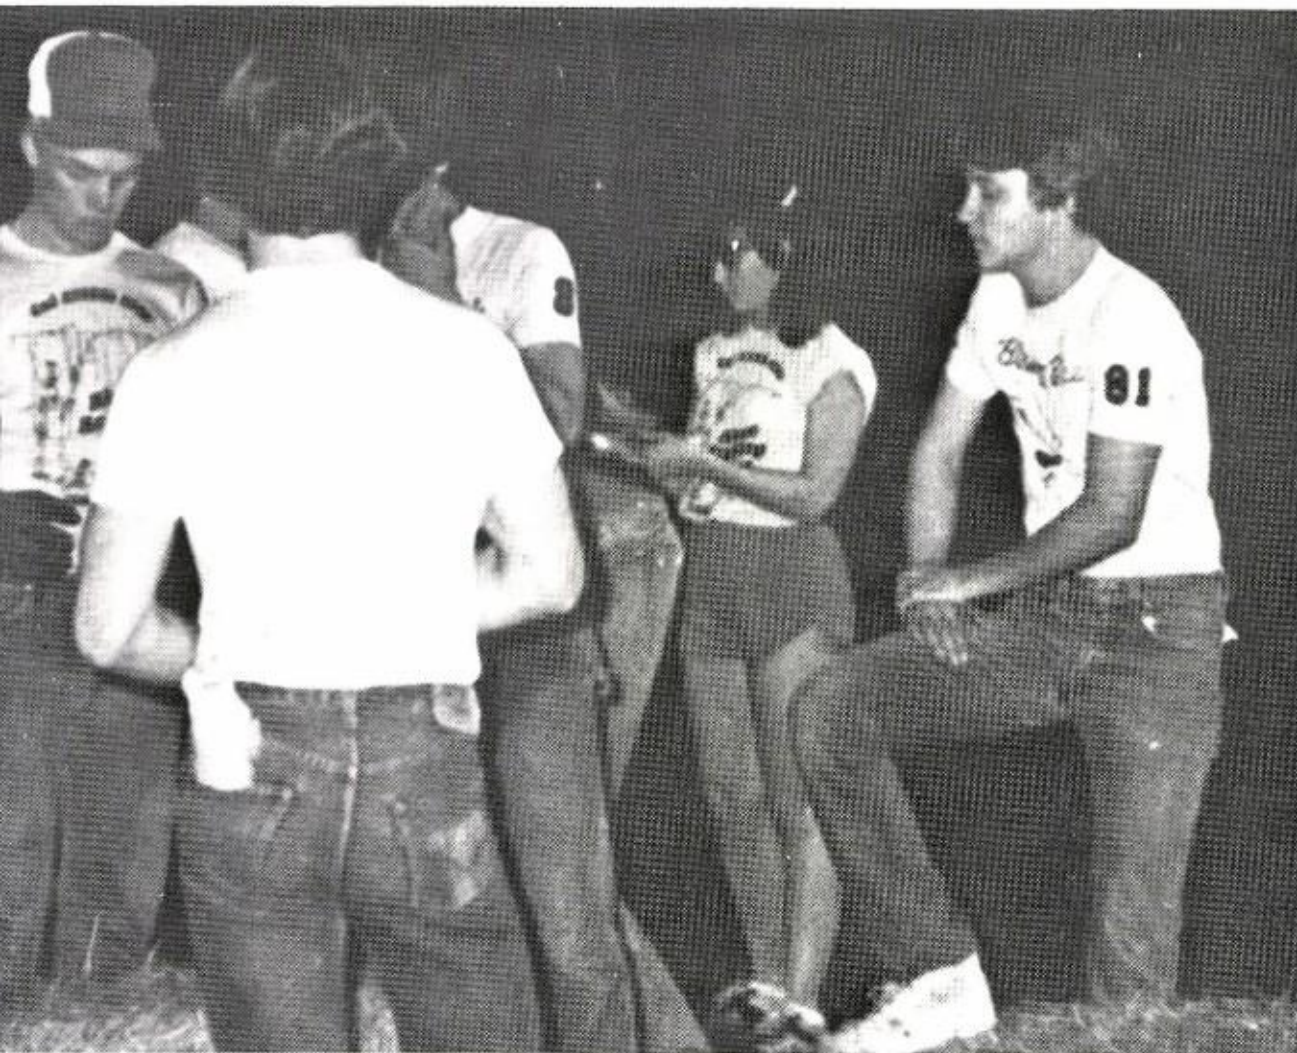

April was a busy month for StuCo with TWIRP Week and Almost Anything Goes. TWIRP Week consisted of Coke night, roller skating night, show night, and topped off by the TWIRP dance.

Almost Anything Goes started with a dinner for the contestants and officials and ended with the faculty winning.

In May the scholarships were decided upon.

As the year started with elections, the year ended with elections for new officers and representatives for the following year.

Membership declines, quality improves

Commenting on the group's membership decline, Mrs. Linda Anderson, sponsor, said, "Tri-Hi-Y strives for quality in membership, not quantity, and I think that has been well achieved."

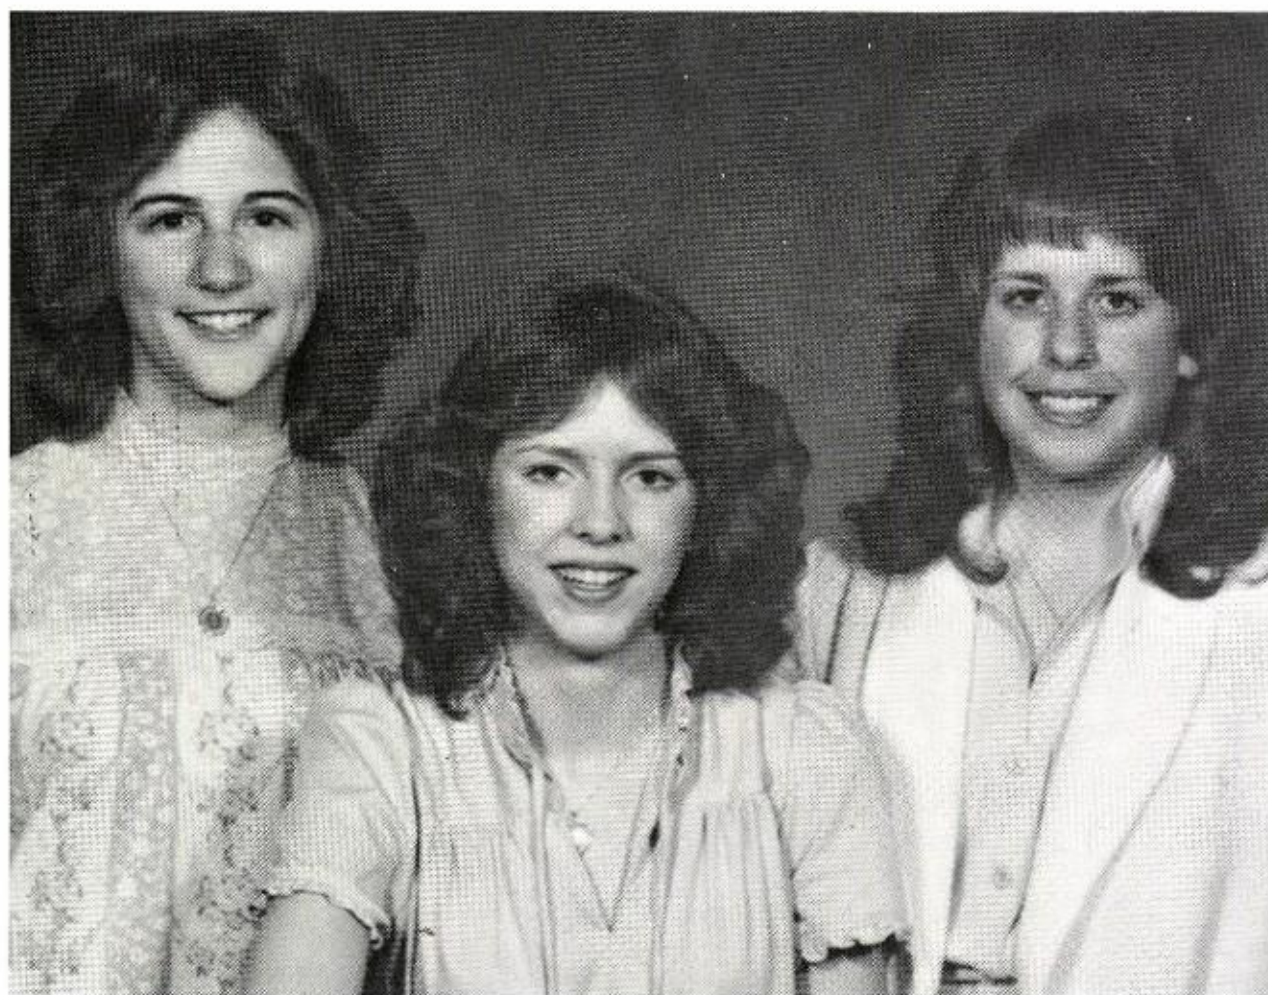

Tri-Hi-Y had a get-acquainted party with the theme "You in the Year 2000" to start the year.

Some of the activities of the group included taking Thanksgiving baskets to two needy families and arranging a Christmas party for children.

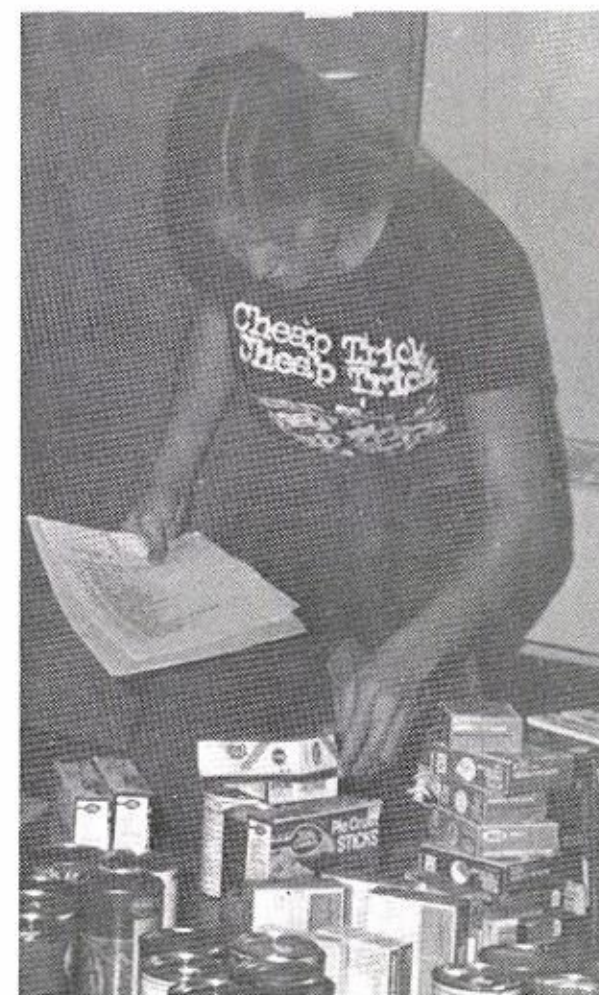

Royalty was announced at the Father-Daughter Banquet in February.

A Tea for the Mothers was given in March, with senior girls modeling Prom Dresses as part of the entertainment.

The Senior Breakfast in May concluded the year. Seniors were honored and new officers were installed.

Honor society initiates fewer members

This year 27 members were inducted into the National Honor Society. This was the smallest number of members to enter the group in many years.

To be considered for the Society, the student must have a 2.0 average and be recommended by ten teachers. Qualities of a member are leadership, service, scholarship and character.

Members were initiated by Mr. Chris Rosenberg. Alumni members presented the group with the four above qualities.

... TUNES

Musical versatility proves entertaining

Musicians can be described as "versatile," when they perform equally well to the strains of "Flores De Espana," as well as the school fight song.

In addition to playing at home football games, street rallies, and the Big Ten volleyball playoffs, the band also performed at concerts during the year. An annual event for the band has been selling candy to raise money. The money bought pictures for members and a record was made of one of their concerts.

Practices started two weeks before school but those cold mornings proved to be a worthwhile experience for both members and spectators

Bands combined effort proves outstanding

Webster's definition of pep is "brisk energy of initiative and high spirits." A musical definition of this could simply be Pep Band as they provided music at the boy's and girl's basketball games, a wrestling match, and the Big-Ten volleyball playoffs. Along with their musical abilities, they also became actors in a pep rally skit.

A definition of Stage Band could be a formal band that is mainly brass. They performed at various concerts throughout the year. Their music ranged from Billy Joel's, "Just The Way You Are" to "Overture in F". This stage band and small ensembles competed in a District contest in April.

Mr. Virgil French, Band director, said, "The band students dedication is outstanding and I'm pleased with the performances they gave in the events they were asked to play for."

Talent displayed in many performances

The Choir sang as a group in three performances this year, including Vespers Dec. 16, Spectrum in Sound IX May 20, and at Baccalaureate May 25.

For this year's musical, the Choir put on The Sound of Music, and for the first time in many year's sophomore girls participated in the Choir's activities.

Performing at the district contest were Swing Choir, Madrigal, Octet, the All-Girl's Triple Quartet as well as solo performances by Glen Chingren, Chris Craig, Charles King, and Kristie Willson.

Swing Choir also performed at the Senior Banquet May 10, and awards were given at the choir banquet May 12.

Theatre 'alive' with The Sound of Music

The Sound of Music filled the little theater at the annual musical performance. Michelle Gullian portrayed Maria, a young, spirited woman trying to become a nun. Mother Abbess, (Chris Craig) wasn't certain that Maria was ready to totally commit herself to the church so she assigned Maria to be a nursemaid to the children of Captain von Trapp, (Charles King). The Captain had a rather large family which consisted of seven children: Brigitta, (Rhonda Kittle); Gretl, (Gretchen Miesbach); Kurt, (Scott Synovec); Marta, (Susie Thompson); Friedrich, (Greg Fritz); Liesl, (Kristie Willson); and Louisa, (Kelly Denny).

Maria brings new found joy and happiness to the von Trapp home. But, Maria begins to feel that she and the Captain are falling in love with each other, so she leaves without telling anyone and returns to the church.

Mother Abbess explains to Maria that she shouldn't fight her feelings and that she shouldn't feel that she has failed for not wanting to become a nun. Maria returns to the von Trapp home and she and the Captain are married.

At the end of the play the von Trapps are not sure about their future because they have just escaped from the Nazis with the help of the Captain's good friend, Max Deweiler, (Gordy Boesen). They don't know where they are going to go, but they know that as long as it is together they will be happy and "The Sound of Music" will fill their hearts as well as the hills.

Orchestra changes directors at semester

This year orchestra started second semester with a new director, Mrs. Rebecca Harrison, who replaced Mr. Tim Adsit.

The full orchestra had three performances which included The Children's Concert for the elementary schools in October, the All-City String Concert Apr. 1, and the Tenth Annual Village Festival Concert May 8.

Small groups of the orchestra attended the Beatrice String Clinic in January and a District Contest in April.

FACULTY

School Board affirms open campus policy

The School Board makes many decisions.

One of this year's most discussed decisions in October came as they dealt with nine students who participated in a walk out. The Board suspended the students for five days.

Another decision concerned a proposed Honor Pass system, which they denied.

Some of the Board's most popular decisions came each month as they honored a girl and a boy.

Just as the song on a record ends, or we see those ever famous words, "THE END," roll onto the big screen, the time here has come to a long awaited end for seniors. For others, however, they prepare themselves for another sequel to their high school career.

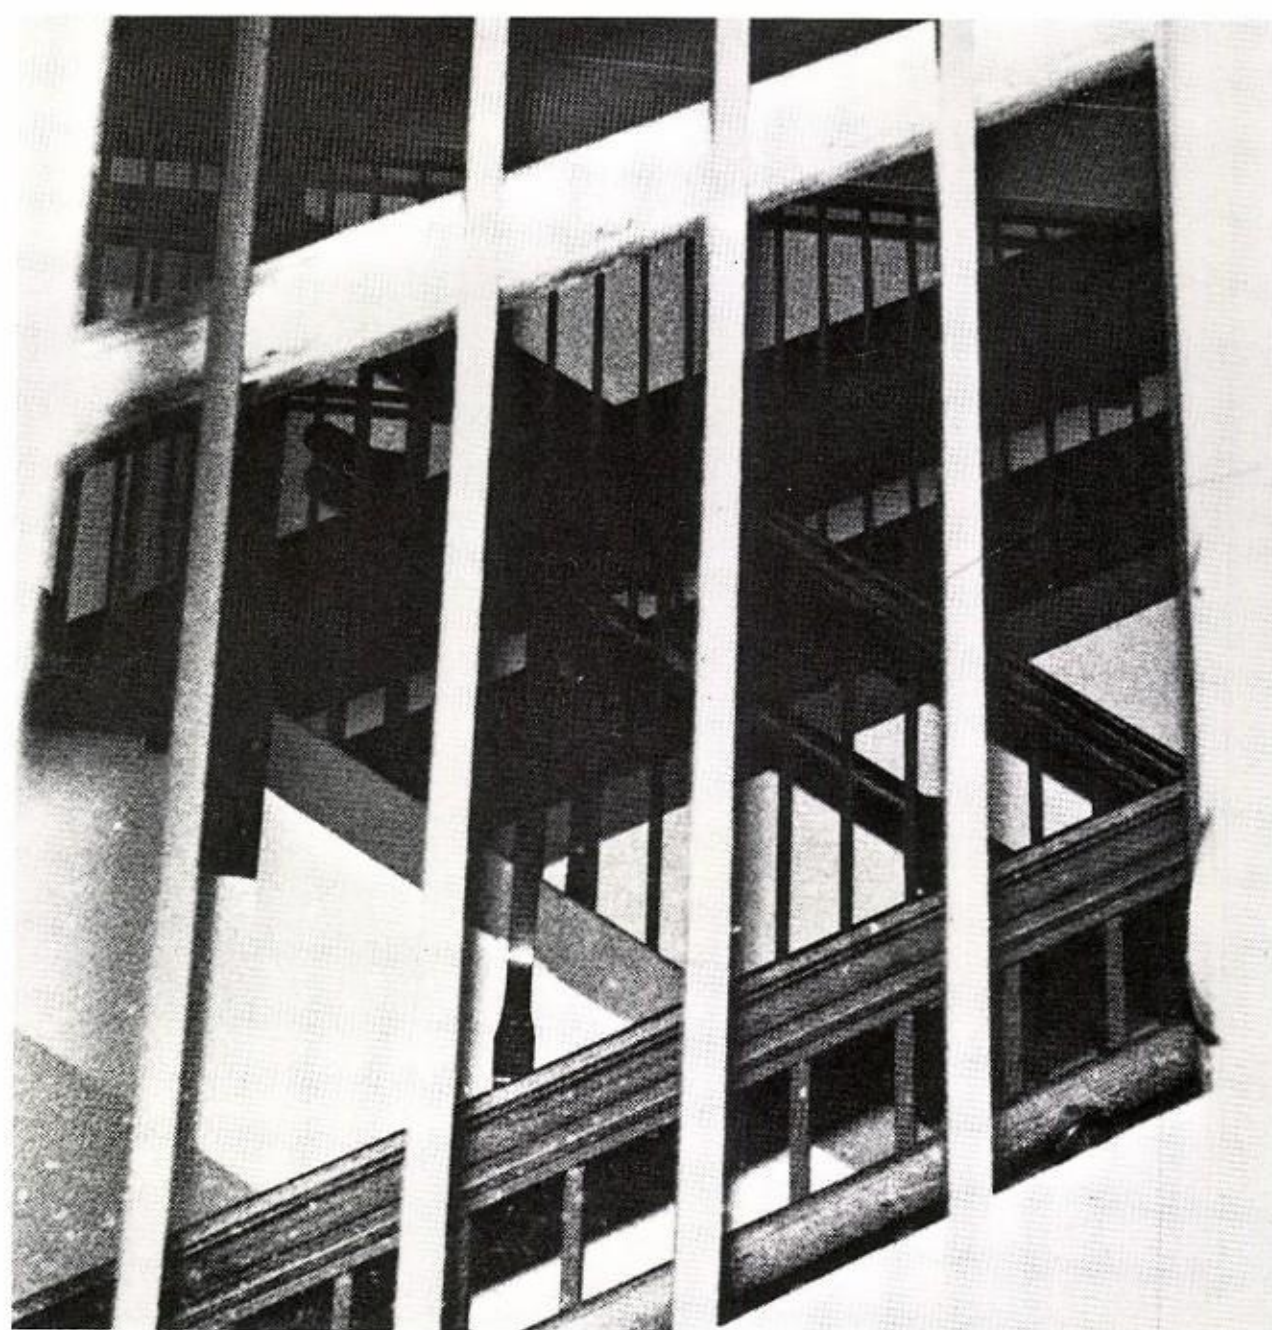

Although we may not realize all the good times in Senior High at this moment in time, the memories will be carried by all, and sooner or later we will flashback to all the memories that have been made, in the past years.

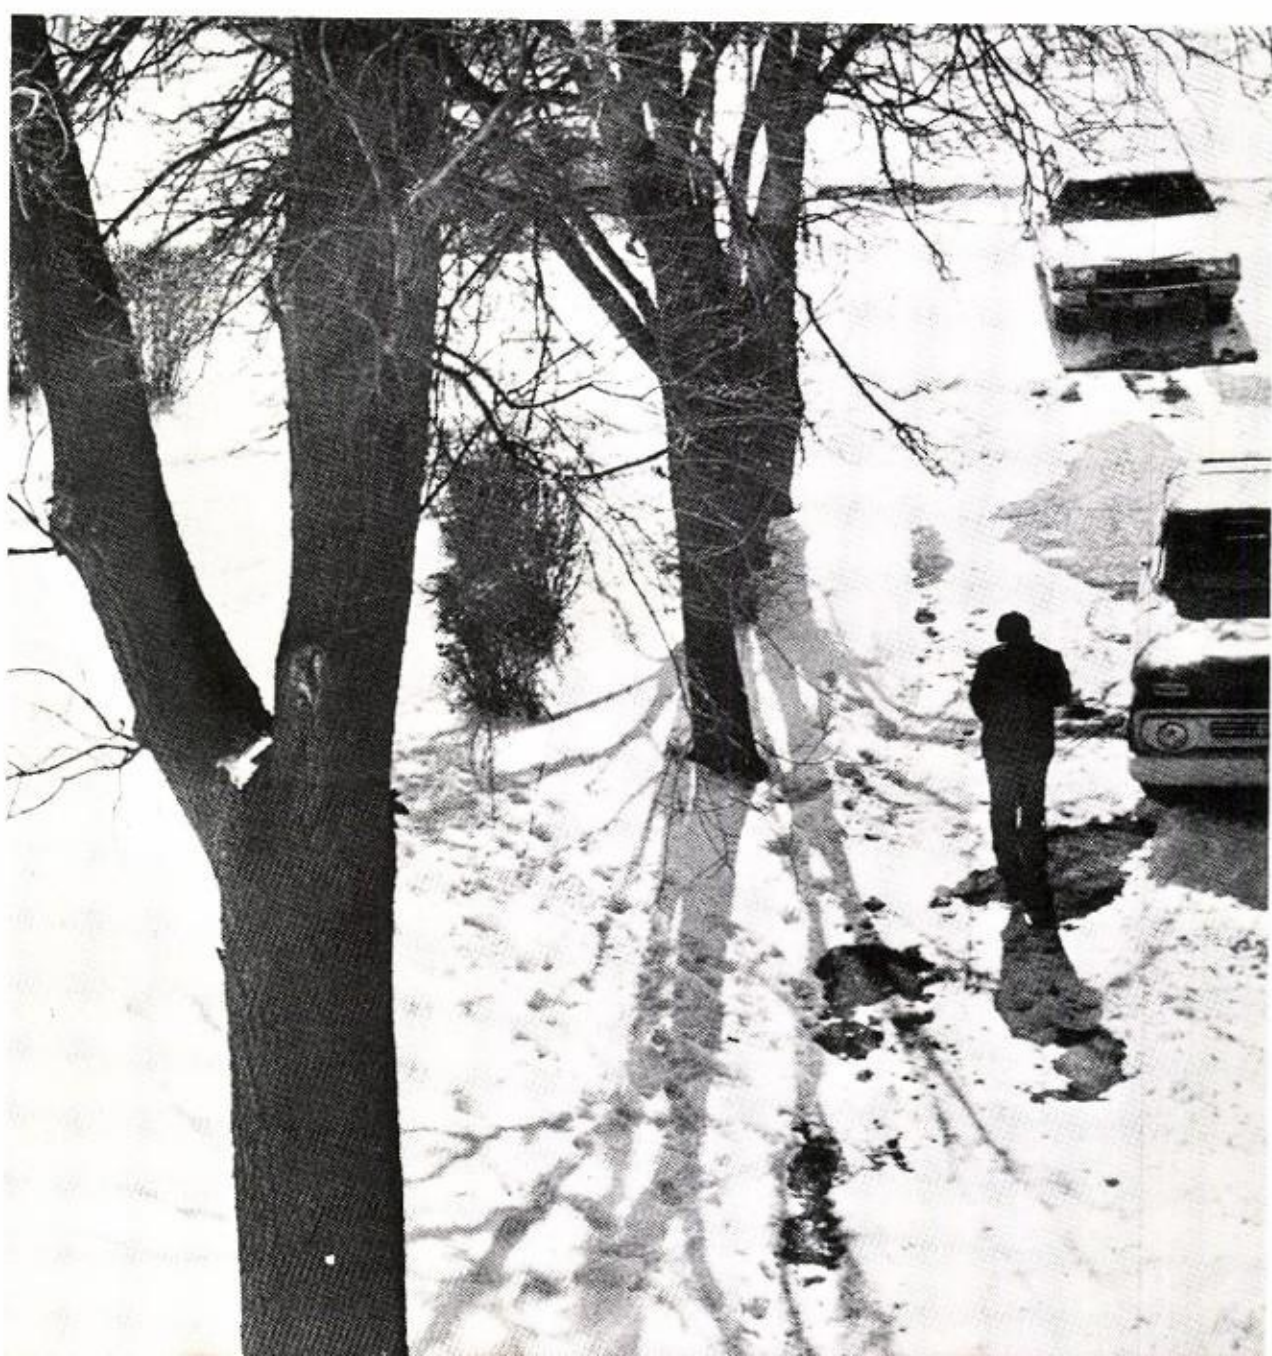

Many times we take this school for granted. Although some of us would rather have been spending our time elsewhere, this building holds many memories of games, passing periods, and being with friends.

There are things and places here that we sometimes don't see. We look at them, but we take them for granted. We have grown in this building as people and, when our last days arrive, we will be young adults in a world of many opportunities.

We said we'd always keep in touch, but now that's past and gone.
 The friends with whom we've shared so much,
 make dreams go on and on.
 The future lies within our reach,
 but yet it's far away.
 Believing in tomorrow,
 is the spirit of today.
